The Daily Commercial

In his Baltimore speech Mr. Johnson said he wanted to appeal to those before him "in the language of the shipwrecked mariner." Doubtless the situation of the aforesaid "shipwrecked mariner" suggested to the mind of the President the entire fitness of borrowing from him words to express his new ideas. Surely nothing could be more natural than to go to such a source for illustration.

Another Presidential Imbroglio.

The friction and jar in the working of our government machinery, occasioned by the disagreement between the Executive and the Legislative Departments, have a parallel in the Republic of Columbia. Although arising from a similar cause, the disorder in the South American Republic is somewhat different from ours in its attendant circumstances, and in the probable results. Owing to the marked difference in the character of the people, Mosquera's ambition and obstinacy have developed his policy more fully, while here the political intelligence and integrity of the people have secured to the National Legislature the free exercise of its prerogatives. The Panama Star thus states, in a few words, the position of things between the President and Congress in that country:

"The Congress of the United States of Columbia passed laws which are opposed to the will of the President, and refuses to indulge certain whims of the Executive as prejudicial to the welfare of the country, whereupon the President declares the acts of Congress null, &c."

And it then proceeds to narrate the special acts of despotic violence by which the President carries his designs into effect.

The condition of affairs in that country is referred to not merely as a coincidence with our own in one of its features, but as likely to involve interests of some interest to us in a national point of view. If it were the result of only the chronic and constitutional infirmity of the South American Republics, it might be contemplated with only the usual degree of melancholy curiosity. But it has probably practical connections with the interest of other nations, and our own as chief, in the great question of communications between the oceans by way of the Isthmus. The Panama Railroad Company have but eight or nine years, we believe, of their chartered privileges yet to enjoy, and the future of that important point of transit is said to be involved in the dissensions between the President and the Congress of Columbia—the Congress being favorable to the American interest and the President to that of European nations, or specially of England. Whether this item is clearly developed in the antagonist policies of the Congress and the President, or not, it is believed by well informed persons to be exerting prospectively a powerful influence.

This, if it be so, is sufficient to draw more than the notice of mere curiosity to the operations of the government of that country. Whatever sanguine expectations we may have of the Pacific Railroad, in process of construction across the continent, the one already across the Isthmus will be of too much value to inter-oceanic communication, to allow of its being under control and restrictions that will embarrass its use or diminish its advantages to our commerce and travel.

All the parties have been arrested, and six thousand five hundred and eighty dollars of the stolen money recovered. Johnson and Ritter have confessed.

RAILWAY MATTERS

—The surveys of the northern end of the projected Dunkirk, Warren and Pittsburgh Railroad have been commenced under the supervision of civil engineer S. M. Newton, Esq.

—The Perkiomen Railroad Company are busily engaged in grading their line of road. The work of building the bridge over the Schuylkill, to connect with the Reading Railroad, has been commenced.

—The New York and Erie Railway has just celebrated its sixteenth anniversary. It gives employment to some 8,000 men, and with their families, makes a support to some 40,000 persons. It last year paid out some half a million dollars monthly to employees.

—The Jamestown and Franklin Railroad is now in successful operation, gives direct communication with Pittsburgh, and will furnish a new outlet for the oily treasures of a great portion of Venango county. The road is well built, abundantly supplied with rolling stock, and is officered by competent and reliable men.

—In explanation of the rapid rise in value of the Michigan Southern Railroad Company shares, it is stated that the revolution in the Cleveland and Toledo management last week is influencing the appreciation of the road west of Toledo, as an essential part of the route, under one general management, from Buffalo to Chicago, around the southern shore of Lake Erie. The Toledo election, last Thursday, brought in Mr. Vanderbilt, of New York, and Mr. Amasa Stone, of Cleveland, into the direction—both very able and wealthy men. Mr. Stone has a controlling power in the Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Road east of Toledo. Already the preliminary steps have been taken to consolidate these two roads, and this arrangement will be followed in due time by a further consolidation with the Buffalo and State Line Road, making Buffalo the initial point east of a continuous line, practically under one rule, from Buffalo to Chicago, of which the Michigan Southern road will be the western link. It is assumed for granted that Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Stone and their friends will assuredly own or control this link on or before the next April election for directors.

Southern News.

The New Orleans Republican, which started with such a flourish of trumpets lately, seems not to have the confidence of the party in Louisiana. The late State Convention rejected Governor Hahn, the leading owner of the paper, on his presenting himself as a delegate, and selected the Tribune, owned and edited by colored men, to be its organ. The Republican, though professing friendship now, has all the [illegible] attempted to create distrust of Sheridan, while the Tribune has warmly supported him.

A letter from Atlanta says: Everybody who holds the bills of the torpid banks of Georgia, is enchanted with the recent decision of Judge Reese at Augusta, by which the liability of the shareholders for the debts of the bank is declared; and the attempted surrender of their charter so as to die and escape payment of their debts, pronounced void. The law of Georgia made all the shareholders expressly liable for the debts of their corporation and the liability is not confined to the amount of their stock. Many whom I know are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, which they have used since the war to grind the faces of the poor by usury, forestalling, pitiless exaction of the pound of flesh, and speculation of every kind, and now they howl with indignation because they are not permitted to repudiate their debts and hold the property on the faith and pledge of which they obtained the money of the public.

Commenting on Sheridan's letter to Grant opposing the reopening of the registry lists, the New Orleans Republican says: "We doubt if there is a loyal man in Louisiana who on reading General Sheridan's dispatch to General Grant, to be found in another column, will not in his heart and with his voice thank God that we have a commander who thoroughly understands this department, and who appreciates at its full value an unrepentant rebel's oath."

WASHINGTON, June 29, 1867.

A Denial.

The War Department has information by telegraph from General Halleck, contradicting the report of the mutiny of a company of Gregg's cavalry, stationed in California. He says the condition of the company is excellent.

Return of Presidential Party.

The Presidential party returned here from Annapolis this evening, and proceeded quietly to their respective comes. No demonstration whatever was made on the arrival of the train here. The Masons who escorted the party to Boston returned yesterday.

Minister Cambell.

Lewis D. Campbell, late Minister to Mexico, arrived here to-day, and will have an interview with the President and Secretary Seward regarding the causes which led to his resignation.

The Impeachment.

The Judiciary Committee to-day accomplished nothing of importance. No witnesses were examined.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, June 30, 1867.

The Deposed Southern Officials.

It has not transpired that the President has come to any conclusion as to the course to be pursued towards the displaced Southern officers beyond a general belief expressed in administrative quarters that he will probably restore the Louisiana Levee Commissioners. There is certainly no truth in the sensation rumor that he has decided to relieve General Sheridan, and a large number believe that nothing will be done with the cases of Wells and Withers now that Congress is so close at hand.

Congressmen.

There have been but two or three arrivals of Congressmen to-day, and barely a quorum is ciphered out for the Senate by Wednesday. Thirty of both houses are already here. Senators Ramsey and Nye telegraph that they cannot possibly be here on Wecnesday.

The Ordnance Investigation.

The Joint Committee on Ordinance claim to have made an important discovery in the Navy Department, in the increase of the original contract prices paid for heavy ordnance. Capt. Wise, head of the Naval Ordnance Bureau, testified that this increase of thirty-five per cent. was made upon his own responsibility, and without any just reason. It appeared on record that the different manufacturers had written to Admiral Dahlgren, when that officer was at the head of the Bureau of Ordnance in reference to an increase of price, in that he distinctly and positively refused to accede to their modest requests. It appears also that while Capt. Wise was directing the affairs of the bureau the increase was made, he claiming that it was done after a consultation with the head of the Navy Department, and by his orders. One of the contracts with Seifert, McManus & Co., who also appeared to be a favorite firm with the Department, had inserted in it in their own handwriting an increase on the original price. This was sent to the Department, and approved by the head of the bureau. Capt. Wise claimed that it was done after an earnest consultation with the head of the Department, and by his sanction. It is claimed that the terms of the law in regard to the advertising for proposals are ambiguous and capable of having many constructions placed upon them.

Changes in the Navy Yards.

To-morrow, July 1st, an entire change will take place in the management of the various departments of the several navy yards, with a view to promote greater efficiency in details of the various branches of that service.

The Fourth of July.

As yet no definite action has been taken by any organized body to celebrate the National Anniversary in this capital.

WASHINGTON, June 30.

MEMBERS ARRIVING.

Members of Congress continue to arrive by every train. Eight or ten from the West came to-day. Some of these report that others from that section are on their way hither, and are confident a quorum of both Houses will be in Washington on Wednesday. The attendance of Democratic members in their places on that day to answer roll call and secure a quorum for business is doubtful. The Republican members now here are all agreed that a bill supplementary to the reconstruction acts ought to be passed, to clearly define the powers of military commanders, but the way and form is yet to be determined.

CONVERSION OF SEVEN-THIRTIES.

The Treasury Department has given notice to holders of 7-30 notes that it is now prepared to give in exchange for such notes 5-20 bonds, issued under the act of March 3d, 1865, redeemable after five years, payable in twenty years from the first of July, 1867. Holders are also notified that the Department will consider that they have waived the right to demand bonds for exchange for notes unless presented for conversion by the first of August next. Seven-thirty notes transmitted for conversion must in every case be indorsed to the Treasurer by the party presenting, and must also, when payable to another person, be indorsed by such payee or his legally authorized representative. Careful attention to this regulation will save parties converting such notes much necessary expense.

MANSFIELD, OHIO.

Interesting Match Game of Base Ball—Sixth Victory for the Mansfield Club.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

MANSFIELD, O., June 29.

A match game of Base Ball was played here this afternoon between the Resolute Club, of Galion, and the Mansfield Club. The game was called on the last half of the eighth innings, on account of darkness. On the seventh innings the score stood, Mansfield, one hundred and six; Resolute, thirty-nine. A large crowd of citizens of both sexes witnessed the playing. This is the sixth match game, and sixth victory for the Mansfield club. Chas. Parsons acted as Umpire. Weather very warm.

SURRATT'S TRIAL.

Eighteenth Day—Cross-Examination of Weichman.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Louis J. Weichman was again on the stand, and was cross-examined until the adjournment of the Court, which was early, owing to the illness of Judge Fisher. Nothing of importance was elicited.

HIGHLY INTERESTING.

NEW YORK, June 30, 1867.

APPEAL FOR PROTECTION.

The Herald's Montgomery special says colored citizens of Mobile have petitioned General Swayne for protection under the civil rights bill, which, they claim, is denied by the civil authorities. They claim offices under the city government, and intimate that they can fill half the places in the police department without damage to the city interest.

SHERIDAN.

The Herald's New Orleans special denies the report that General Steedman had requested the President to remove Sheridan. General Sheridan has issued a special order that the President having expressed his opinion that the time for registration in Louisiana was not long enough, the time will be extended until further orders.

Bold Robbery.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 30.—The dwelling house of John Raynefoomer, living a mile west of East Schodak, Rensselaer county, was entered by burglars Saturday night, and a trunk containing about $1,900 in government bonds, currency, &c., was taken from under the bed without awakening any of the family. The trunk was found a short distance from the house to-day, rifled of all its valuables. No arrests have been made.

The Convocation in Rome.

Large Number of Dignitaries Present.

Anniversary of St. Peter's Martyrdom.

Canonization of Saints.

The Convocation in Rome.

ROME, June 27, 1867.—His Holiness Pope Pius the Ninth held a public Consistory this day, Thursday, at which there were over four hundred Catholic bishops, coming from every part of the world.

The Pope delivered an allocution to the assembled prelates, in the course of which he praised their great zeal in coming to Rome from such distances and thus evincing their attachment and devotional obedience to the Holy See. He said that the example shown to the world by the union of the church at large in its celebration of the canonization of the martyrs of Japan and the eighteenth centenary anniversary of St. Peter's martyrdom, would show forth to the enemies of the chair of Peter the immense power which the church wields on earth.

His Holiness confirmed the Papal condemnation of the errors of the act of October 29, 1865. He also expressed his desire to convoke at an early day a general council of the Bishops, with a view to deliberate on the best means of repairing the evils which oppress the church just now.

The Holy Father closed the allocution by imparting the Pontifical benediction to the Bishops.

ROME, June 28, Evening.—There are a great many more arrivals of Catholic prelates and clergymen and laymen, who come to take part in and witness the ceremonies of Saturday and Sunday next, and the canonization rites which are to follow.

At this moment there are four hundred and fifty Archbishops and Bishops, with about thirty thousand clergymen and members of the different religious orders in the Eternal City.

From the United States of America are noticed the Archbishops Spalding, of Baltimore; Kenrick, of St. Louis; Odin, of New Orleans; Purcell, of Cincinnati, and Bishop Wood, of Philadelphia, with twenty-two Bishops from other American dioceses in British territory and the Union.

When the Pope received the American prelates and clergy at audience they presented him with two hundred thousand dollars in gold coin.

They also presented a model of the American yacht Henrietta in silver, the yacht being laden below with gold pieces to the amount of fifty thousand dollars, contributed by the people of the arch-episcopal province of Cincinnati.

The presentation of the model of the yacht was made to his Holiness by the Right Rev. James F. Wood, D.D., Bishop of Philadelphia.

The Pope was in excellent humor, lifting the exquisite model of the yacht Henrietta from the case, said with a gracious smile, "Non e un vapore!" "It is not a steamer!" or, as the words have been more freely translated by some persons, "it is not all vapor or steam," from America, alluding to the cargo on board.

Turning to the clergy, his Holiness said that he had only pleasant words to say to the Americans present and absent. He complimented them on their progress, religious and civil, in the most cheerful manner, and spoke in the very highest terms of Gen. Rufus King, Minister of the United Ssates in Rome, and of his father, Prof. King, who now lies at the point of death.

The Most Reverend Archbishops Spalding and Purcell, of Baltimore and Cincinnati, have been named on the committee charged to prepare a reply on behalf of the Catholic world to the Pope's allocution.

The Council will probably meet in November. Archbishop Purcell, of Cincinnati, will have assigned to him a post of honor on the right hand of the Pope at the grand St. Peter's ceremony on Saturday.

Every attention, in fact, is being shown to the Americans, bishops and others.

St. Peter's Martyrdom.

ROME, June 30.—The religious ceremonies in celebration of the 1800th anniversary of St. Peter's Martyrdom at St. Paul's, by the canonization of twenty-five Dutch, French and Spanish martyrs in Japan as saints, was one of the most gorgeous witnessed in the world since the days of King Solomon. The observances commenced with a general illumination of the city. St. Peter's was like a great church on fire. At 7 A. M., there was a grand procession of prelates, priests, monks, and soldiers, from the Vatican to St. Peter's. The Pope was carried on his throne. St. Peter's was magnificently decorated with cloths of gold, silver, tapestries, paintings, and 200,000 yards of crimson silk. The building was lighted with many millions of wax candles. There were one hundred thousand people inside the church, including the ex-King of Naples, foreign ministers, five hundred Cardinals, Archbishops, many thousand clergymen, priests, monks, nuns and soldiers from all points of the world. The Pope celebrated Gregorian mass in Latin and Greek. Two interruptions occurred; the curtains of one window took fire, but were promptly extinguished; a man became crazed by the splendor and cut his throat. The Pope at once reconsecrated the church stained with the blood of the suicide. Listz composed extra music for the grand mass, which was accompanied by chord to the dome of St. Peters and castle of St. Angelo. The observances continue a week.

Reception of the Pope.

ROME, June 30.—The Holy Father, both before and after the grand religious solemnities celebrated yesterday, and wherever he appeared in public was received with the most enthusiastic manifestations of attachment and devotion from the immense multitudes of clergymen and laymen.

Breakfast to Lloyd Garrison.

LONDON, June 29.—Wm. Lloyd Garrison was honored with a public breakfast in St. James Hall. It was attended by four hundred ladies and gentlemen. Mr. Adams was absent. John Bright, in a speech, complimented Mr. Garrison for his services in the cause of emancipation. The Duke of Argyle presented a welcoming address, and expressed the hope that the attitude of friendly affection would be maintained between England and the United States. Earl Russell promptly avowed his former errors, committed at the outbreak of the rebellion, and of which Mr. Adams had convinced him. Speeches were also made by Messrs. Garrison, Thompson and others.

LONDON, June 30.—At the public breakfast given in honor of William Lloyd Garrison, yesterday, a letter from the Count of Paris was read, which eulogized in warm terms the service done by Mr. Garrison in the cause of humanity and freedom. Mr. Adams, Minister of the United States, who was absent, also sent a letter, the tone of which was rather qualified and reserved.

Export Duties Abolished.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—The duties hitherto collected by the Russian Government on exports of woolen articles, mats and tar, from Russia and Poland, are abolished.

STATE ITEMS.

The streets of Allentown, the youngest city in the State, are to be McAdamized.

The steam tannery of Messrs. Greenawalt & Anderson, in Lebanon borough, took fire on Sunday morning last and was totally destroyed with its contents. The loss was $40,000, on which there was an insurance of $24,000. The cause of the fire is attributed to accident.

There is an apple tree on the premises of John Kohler, in North Whitehall township, Lehigh county, which is over one hundred years old. Last year this tree bore over 100 bushels of apples. It is 60 feet high, and 5½ feet in diameter, two feet above the ground.

A week or so ago obstructions were placed on the track of the Reading Railroad below Port Clinton for the purpose of throwing the train containing the paymaster of the road off the track with a view to his plunder. Happily the obstructions were discovered in time.

Company H, 14th regiment, will leave Brooklyn, New York, this afternoon, and pass through Harrisburg, on a visit to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. The Fourth is to be spent in roaming over the battle-field, where so many of their comrades fell. It is expected that Mayor Booth, ex-Colonel Wood, Simeon B. Chittenden and other prominent citizens of Brooklyn, will accompany the excursionists.

Adam Bricker, of South Mahoning township, Indiana county, committed suicide on the 18th ult., by hanging himself with a plow-line in the woods near his residence.

A lad, seven years of age, performed the following wonderful feat in Mt. Joy, Lancaster county, a few days ago: He threw his ball on the roof of a house and it rolled down into the eaves trough. After having vainly attempted to get a ladder from his father, he went to the gable end of the house, a large two-story brick building, and ascended the lightning rod to the peak of the roof. After having thrown himself around the chimney, he walked down the side of the roof, picked his ball out of the eaves trough and threw it down on the pavement. He then walked up to the peak of the roof, swung himself around the chimney upon the lightning rod and descended to the ground. All this was accomplished in about three minutes' time. It is only necessary to add that the boy is named Simon Cameron Brady, which may account for his precocity.

Messrs. Carncross & Dixey, the minstrel managers, have purchased the church building on Seventh, below Arch street, Philadelphia, recently occupied by the Second Presbyterian congregation, and the work of remodeling it for minstrel purposes, will be immediately commenced.

The beautiful island in the Lehigh, opposite Bethlehem, has been purchased by the Bethlehem Iron Company. They intend to use it as a deposit for cinder—thus destroying all the romance of the place.

James Poyner, the young man who attempted to cut the throat of his cousin, a young woman at the house of Mr. Shaffer, in Seventh street, near Federal, Philadelphia, and then cut his own throat until it pained him, when he desisted, has escaped from the Pennsylvania Hospital, where he was confined until he should recover from his wounds. He is now at large.

Dr. Kamerly, a Democratic member of the Select Council, Philadelphia, attended a meeting of that body on Thursday afternoon, while very much intoxicated, and during a debate used such abusive and profane language as necessitated his expulsion by the Messenger.

William Whiteside, for a number of years a member of the Lancaster Bar, died at his residence in Lancaster city on Thursday.

Moritz Doeb, of Bucks county, W. Everhart, of Bucks county, and John Shupe, of Montgomery county, were lately tried before the Montgomery county courts for conspiracy to defraud in connection with an oil company. They were convicted, and a motion for a new trial failing, they were sentenced last week to an imprisonment of six months, a fine of $500 and costs of prosecution. They spent one night in prison, but on next morning a pardon was produced and they were restored to liberty. The pardon does not relieve them from the costs, which are represented to be from $1,200 to $1,500.

Mr. T. McGinty, operator of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Oleopolis, while asleep, fell from the third story of the Allegheny House, on Wednesday, to the ground, injuring his spine and fracturing his leg. His recovery is possible.

Captain Samuel Speese, late of Company F, Thirteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry, died at his residence in Dauphin, Dauphin county, on Thursday.

The jewelry store of David Zengschmidt, in Franklin, was entered last Wednesday morning by burglars. Having secured the keys of the safe from the sleeping clerk and taken his revolver from under his pillow, they aroused him and ordered him to open the safe. The frightened boy was persuaded to be expeditious by threatening to shoot him. A number of gold and silver watches, some coin and bank notes were secured by the robbers from the safe, and a few revolvers in the show case on the counter were taken. The value of the property and the money stolen is estimated at one thousand dollars.

Riots continue to prevail in the oil regions. Monday night last a party of roughs made an assault upon the premises of Mrs. Emma Wood, at Funkville, completely demolishing the doors and windows of the house, breaking open trunks and destroying furniture generally, and driving the occupants from the vicinity. From this place they visited a house of ill-repute situated on the banks of the creek at Pioneer, which was soon subjected to the "clearing process." Windows were broken, and one man found up stairs was pitched head foremost to the ground. He was considerably but not dangerously injured.

A prouder record of service during the late war is not to be met with than that of the family of Joseph and Susanna Lybarger, of Larimer township, Somerset county, whose seven sons attested their devotion to country, as follows: 1. George W. Lybarger enlisted in 1861 as a private in company G, 54th regiment P. V., and re-enlisted as a veteran at the close of three years. 2. Joseph L. Lybarger enlisted in 1861 as a private in company C, 54th regiment, P. V., and re-enlisted at the end of three years. 3. Lewis G. Lybarger enlisted in 1861 as a private in company B, 31st Indiana, and re-enlisted at the end of three years' service. 4. Henry G. Lybarger enlisted in 1861 as a private in company D, 55th regiment P. V., and re-enlisted at the end of three years. 5. William Lybarger enlisted in 1861 as private in company C, 54th regiment P. V., re-enlisted at the end of three years, and died whilst in service. 6. Valentine G. Lybarger enlisted in 1862 as a private in company G, 54th regiment, and died at the end of seventeen months' service. 7. Jacob Lybarger, drafted in 1864, and after being held for some time, was discharged on account of physical disability.

The brewers of Reading held a meeting last week, at which they resolved not to sell malt liquors to any so-called temperance men who have abandoned their principles, and that, the fact being established the names of all such be posted up in the different bar rooms. The information to be procured from the Temperance Committee if possible. They also adopted the following as in their opinion the best way to promote temperance: That if the laws would afford ample protection to the hotel and saloon keepers, a great portion of the drunkenness now so common would be prevented. If the evil would not be entirely eradicated. Let the laws punish the drunkard instead of the retailer, and the object of the temperate men is at once gained, but until this is done no satisfactory adjustment can be hoped for.

Petroleum Export.

On Friday last, at the port of Philadelphia, forty-nine vessels were under charter and loading with petroleum for foreign ports. The amount to be taken by these vessels foots up 176,467 bbls, or 7,058,680 gallons, allowing forty gallons to the barrel. The export from Philadelphia, from the same date, since January 1st, 1867, amounts to 11,474,635 gollons, or 286,865 barrels. By adding the amount loading at that date we have 18,533,315 gallons or 463,332 barrels. Total export same period of 1866, 9,187,627 gallons, or 229,690 barrels. The total export from New York since January 1st, 1867, amounts to 14,323,160 gallons, or 358,079 barrels. The exports from Baltimore, the present year, to June 22d, amount to 989,802 gallons, or 24,745 barrels. The total export from the United States the present year, exclusive of the amount loading on the forty-seven vessels in Philadelphia, 26,898,495 gallons, or 672,462 barrels.

Georgia Crops.

A correspondent of the Baltimore American writing from Thomas county says: Having the opportunity, I will again drop you a few lines. Since my last, crops have improved very much. Corn has been laid by, and, although it has tasselled out low, a good crop is expected, and many think they will have the best crop they have had for the last ten years. Oats have all been housed and made a good yield, and have been a great help, as most were out of corn, and are now feeding their stock on them exclusively. Cotton looks as well as it ever did, and that which was planted about the first of April is in bloom and the fields are looking white. Some have a little grass in their crops, owing to the weather, it having rained every day since the 16th inst., and is still cloudy. Many think cotton will not be worth more than fifteen cents per pound, and offer now to sell their whole crops for that amount.

Peaches, watermelons, canteleups, apples, and, in fact, most everything that you have in August are now ripe and are very plentiful.

POLITICAL.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Republicans of Crawford county have placed in nomination the following ticket: Senator—M. C. Lowry, Erie county; Assembly—Messrs. Beatty and Espy. J. Boyd Espy was the member last session. Treasurer—John Adams; Commissioner—John M. Calvin; Auditor—D. P. Compton; Jury Commissioner—A. B. Armstrong. This ticket is composed mainly of the friends of S. Newton Pettis, and is regarded by that gentleman as a personal triumph over those who so bitterly opposed his nomination for Congress last year, and the triumph of Senator Cameron. At the meeting of the Return Judges at Meadville, resolutions were adopted requesting the Senator and Representatives from that district to "urge the passage of a General Railroad Law that will destroy the power of monopolies, and open the business of transportation of freight and passengers to a wholesome competition;" declaring that the accidental President of the United States has forfeited the esteem and confidence, not only of Americans, but of the friends of freedom throughout the world; that Congress at the July session, if it be found the President has neglected to execute the laws of the land should impeach and depose him: that Generals Sickles and Sheridan, by their faithful efforts to secure Southern Unionists their rights, have won the hearts of the people, and "deserved the thanks of Congress; and recommending a careful revision of the revenue laws, with a view to their simplification. The Convention passed resolutions expressing its opinion as to how party papers should be conducted, and rebuking the Republican; whereupon the editor of the latter paper, who was present, spoke as follows: "Inasmuch as your Committee on Resolutions has presumed to take charge of the editorial conduct of my newspaper, may I be permitted to inquire on what conditions I may support the Republican ticket, or whether I will be allowed to support it, and how? Pending the nominations, I opposed Mr. Lowry, as I had a right to do, and I wish it distinctly understood that under no circumstances will I consent that any party, or clique, or individual, shall dictate to me in what manner I shall conduct my newspaper. A certain class of small politicians deem it their province to instruct editors how to conduct public journals. I neither recognize their right nor their capacity to do anything of the kind. I made my fight against Mr. Lowry prior to the time of making nominations, as I had a perfect right to do, and now, if he should be nominated, I suppose I can stand it if the Republican party can." Although Senator Lowry was not well pleased with the remarks of the Republican editor previous to the primary election, he personally conceded to that gentlemen his perfect right to conduct the preliminary canvass in his own way, and disapproved of the Convention's resolutions of censure. The contest for the Senatorship was fought on both sides with too much personality, and, now that it is over, neither party has any reason for congratulation.

The Democracy of Somerset county held their county convention on Monday last. Hiram Findlay, Esq., of Elklick, was nominated for the Legislature; Cassimer Cramer, of Middlecreek, for Treasurer, Isaac Miller, of Summit, for Commissioner, and Lieut. Lepley, of Larimer, for Auditor. The convention was meagrely attended.

The Democracy of Philadelphia have purchased property at the corner of Ninth and Arch streets, upon which they propose to erect a club house of brown stone, similar to the Union League House, on Broad street.

OHIO.

General Hayes, the Republican Gubernatorial nominee, has been in Columbus several days, making arrangements for the fall campaign. He will proceed to Washington to attend the extra session. He expects to return within two or three weeks after the opening of Congress, when he will enter vigorously into the campaign, meeting such engagements as may be made for him.

The Coshocton County Union Convention will be held in Coshocton on the 4th of July. In connection therewith a mass meeting will be held, which will be addressed by Mahlon Chance, Esq., of Fremont.

The Union primary meetings for Hardin county resulted in the nomination of the following ticket: Senator, Solomon Kraner; Representative, Thomas Rough; Auditor, William D. Edgar; Treasurer, R. L. Chase; Sheriff, Alfred K. Rarey; Prosecuting Attorney, James Bain; Commissioner, David Snodgrass.

TENNESSEE.

The joint canvass between Stokes and Etheridge is now nearing to a close. It has on the whole been beneficial to the Republican cause. The most sanguine of our friends believe that the Republican vote will reach 100,000, giving us a majority of more than two to one. The vote will probably be about 90,000, of which 50,000 will be cast by colored men. The rebel-Johnson vote cannot legally reach 50,000, as so many are disfranchised, but it is probable that it will be 60,000, giving a Radical majority of 30,000.

GEORGIA.

So far as registration has progressed in this State, the blacks have displayed far more ardor in pursuit of the voting qualification than the whites. The majority may be truly said to be "overwhelming;" but the probabilities are that the latter are only making haste slowly, and that after "the niggers get through" the registrars will have to record a goodly number of white citizens as duly qualified voters. A letter from Atlanta says that although the Stanbery opinion is generally approved, yet the effect is as generally feared. In other words, the people prefer to bear the present than run the risk of bringing upon themselves the ills they fear must result from giving Congress the occasion for making another turn of the screw.

CALIFORNIA.

The Democracy of the Third Congressional District of California has nominated James W. Coffroth, a native of Greencastle, Pa., and a graduate of the old Times office of Chambersburg, as their candidate for Congress.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

At the Paris Exhibition is a machine from Wurtemburg for making paper from wood—the most extensive machine in the whole Exhibition. A tree, cut into convenient blocks, is put in at the top of the mountain of continuous and gradually descending rollers and grinders, and comes out quite rapidly at your feet in the shape of a fine, white, soft pulp, ready to be pressed into any form of paper desired.

Some lawyers of Paris, when the Czar appeared in their quarter, shouted "Vive la Pologne," which was thought to be a gross indignity—by no obscure individual—by members of an educated class of Frenchmen. The Society of the Order of Lawyers was called together to judge the case, and it was decided that individual members of the order had a right to utter the cries in question without incurring any reprimand from the order. But the discussion has not and will not stop here, says a correspondent. A deep feeling has been awakened, which will not be soon allayed.

Among the French inventions at the Exhibition is one for shooting a rope ashore from a ship in distress—quite a perfect thing, it is said.

Dr. Nelaton, the surgeon of the French Prince Imperial, has received promotion to the high rank of Grand Officer de la Legion d'Honor, for his skillful treatment of the young Prince. It was conferred in this wise: As the Doctor was taking his farewell of the Prince, the child said, "Wait a moment, I have something to give you." He opened a drawer and took therefrom the ribbon and insignia of the Grand Cordon. "It is somewhat faded," said the Prince, "for my father has worn it for so long a time."

The United States are getting on poorly in prosecuting claims before the British Courts, which invariably decides against us, whether we are plaintiffs or defendants; and what is worse, the infamous Judah P. Benjamin, who conducts the cases against us, is petted, while our counsel are snubbed.

The London correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says: It is announced that Mr. James Gordon Bennett, Jr., designs starting a daily paper in London. If he has a fortune superior to that of the Marquis of Westminster, and is willing to sink a good portion of it, he may, perhaps, succeed; but that nobleman, with his $5,000 a day income, failed to keep his new paper in existence more than three months, and the Pall Mall Gazette was not able to stand alone until its proprietors had sunk about £100,000.

The Army and Navy Gazette says: "The military review at Hyde Park, to be held by the Queen at an early day in July, is likely to be the grandest affair of the kind witnessed in London for many years. All the troops that can be conveniently massed together, will be assembled. A royal pavilion, on a large scale, will be erected."

A correspondent of the London Times writing of the yellow fever at Mauritius, says: "I am writing from the city of the dead; ten thousand persons have been carried off already, the average in town being two hundred a day."

The Memorial Diplomatique states that the condition of the Empress Charlotte is improved. It has been thought prudent not to conceal from her the fact of her husband's captivity and that his life was threatened. The effect was that the Empress appeared suddenly to recover all her clearness of intellect. She declared that the Mexican nation could not be capable of so odious an act as to raise a murderous hand against a Prince who had devoted himself with so much self-denial to the regeneration of the country.

LAST ACT OF THE TRAGEDY.

Maximilian Shot on the 19th.

The Capital Captured by Liberals.

CAPTURE OF SANTA ANNA CONFIRMED.

Outrage on the American Flag

Imperialist Sympathizers Shot and Hung

Special Dispath to Commercial.

WASHINGTON, June 29, 1867.

Important official intelligence was received here to-night by the Austrian Minister from an agent of the late Imperial government of Mexico, stating that Maximilian had been tried by court martial and sentenced to be executed on the 19th of June. The sentence was carried into effect at seven o'clock on the morning of that day, Maximilian being shot by a file of soldiers. His friends applied for his body, but Escobedo, the Mexican General in command, refused to deliver it up. This information comes via Vera Cruz to the Southwest Pass, where it was put on the telegraph to the Austrian Minister. The news has caused an intense sensation in diplomatic circles, and at the President's house where it has been communicated, and where it seems to be generally credited.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30, 1867.

The Austrian Minister last night received a dispatch from the commander of an Austrian vessel, which has been lying at Vera Cruz, stating simply that Maximilian had been shot at seven o'clock on the morning of the 19th of June, and that Juarez had refused to surrender his remains to his friends. No other details are given, but the Austrian Legation here fully credit the intelligence. It comes from an Austrian naval official, who dispatched a special vessel to the Southwest Pass with a telegram announcing the fact of the execution to Count Wydenbruck, the Austrian Minister. It has been communicated by the latter over the Atlantic cable to Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, the brother of Maximilian.

Official Dispatches.

The following official dispatches have been furnished your correspondent for publication:

SOUTHWEST PASS, LA., June 29, 1867.

To Count Wydenbruck, Austrian Minister, Washington, D. C:—I came here from Vera Cruz to telegraph you of the condemnation and death of the Emperor Maximilian, at seven o'clock on the morning of June 19. President Juarez refused to deliver up his body.

[Signed] GROLLER SIEHAFT, Commander Austrian Sloop.

The following was received at the Navy Department to-night:

U. S. STEAMER TACONY, VERA CRUZ, June 25th, via. NEW ORLEANS, June 30th.

Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy:

Maximilian was shot on the 19th instant. Hord begged for his corpse for the Austrian Captain, and was refused.

The City of Mexico surrendered on the 20th to the Liberals.

Vera Cruz holds out on account of the foreign legions. Diaz orders no acceptance of its surrender. I am moored between Nelva and the North Bastian. Jason is in company. I write by mail.

[Signed] F. A. POE, Commander.

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—An Austrian steam sloop-of-war arrived at Southwest Pass this morning, and landed telegraphic dispatches for the Austrian Government. Her ensign was draped in deep mourning. This circumstance and the reticence of her officers is significant. They, however, report that the City of Mexico was captured by the Liberals on the 20th, but the particulars had not reached Vera Cruz up to the time of the sailing of the Austrian steamer.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A dispatch reached this city by telegraph from New Orleans this afternoon, stating that Maximilian was condemned to die, and was shot on the 19th of June. No particulars whatever accompany the statement.

NEW ORLEANS, June 19.—The Mexican schooner Atlas arrived at the mouth of the Mississippi this morning, having on board exiled Imperialist Mexicans, who have been peremptorily banished, among them several military officers. They confirm the report of the capture of Santa Anna at Sisal. They add that when the Captain of the Virginia told the Liberals they must take Santa Anna by force, as his vessel was not armed, he spread the American ensign on the gangway. The Mexicans trod on the flag, seized Santa Anna, thrust him into a boat, took him to Campeachy and confined him as a prisoner of war. At Campeachy the Liberals were shooting, hanging and expelling Imperialist sympathizers.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Arms Issued to Employees of Union Pacific Railway—Reported Defeat and Death of Gen. Custar.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—The Secretary of War has authorized the issue of one thousand breach loading arms and fifty thousand cartridges from Leavenworth arsenal to the Union Pacific Railway Company, Kansas branch, to enable their engineers and working parties to protect themselves against Indian attacks. The company have already received five hundred Spencer rifles for the same purpose.

Omaha dispatches say the case of Kometz Brothers, bankers, versus the American Express Company, a claim for lost treasure captured by Indians two yerrs ago, was argued before the United States Circuit Court yesterday.

Considerable trouble exits at Julesburg between the old settlers of that town and the Union Pacific Railroad Company, in consequence of the latter trying to occupy lands squatted upon by the former. The squatters refuse to vacate the lands.

A report was current at Fort Harker last week that General Custar, with a small body of cavalry, had been overpowered by a large force of Indians, and the General killed. The report is not well authenticated, but some credence is placed in it on account of so little having been heard of Custar's command for some time.

THE editor of the Independent expresses "unspeakable satisfaction"—(just as though that genial gentleman was ever otherwise than satisfied)—in "being able to put on record" the recent decision of Chief Justice Chase, defining the law of treason. This is the decision the Tribune argues against because of its unsoundness.

THE confiscation plan said to be most popular among Republican Congressmon, and which will come up during the July session, is the following: First—Abolish all the existing State Governments in the South. Second—Seize all lands to which a valid title can't be shown, and sell the same under patent to pay for the reconstruction and help to pay the war debt. Third—Make the military power supreme for six months, or until a Constitution is adopted and a republican form of government guaranteed to suit the views of Congress. Fourth—To proceed to the impeachment of the President at once. The conservatives will oppose the latter measure strenuously, but it is understood that they will not attempt to stay the other measures, which are virtually a compromise with Stevens and Sumner.

RECENT Illinois newspapers speak with confidence of the results of the efforts making in that State to manufacture sugar from beets, after the plan adopted in France a few years ago, and since prosecuted with much success. The subject is again brought up prominently by the consignment of about thirty thousand pounds of sugar to Chicago from the manufacturing establishment at Chattsworth. This sugar is said to have been made in March, and is a part of the product of last season's business, the beets having been preserved in pits through the winter. Experience seems to be conclusive in regard to the good saccharine properties of beets grown in this country, as compared with those of France.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY.—The Canadians are doubtful that any present arrangement will be made toward reciprocity, owing to the uncertainty respecting the new tariff that will be introduced after the Confederate Government is fairly established. There is no doubt that the tariff must be entirely revised, and it will then be a matter of serious consideration. Two questions are agitating the community, viz: Free Trade or Protection. At present few feel confident as to which course should be adopted.

Mr. Greeley on Great Sights.

Mr. Greeley, in an article in the Independent this week, descriptive of a recent visit to Niagara, says: "Of the grand sights I have enjoyed—Rome from the dome of St. Peter's—Italy from the southern brow of Mount Cenis—the Alps from the valley of Lake Como—Mont Blanc and her glaciers from Chamouny—Niagara—and the Yosemite—I judge the last named the most unique and stupendous. It is a partially wooded gorge, 100 to 300 rods wide, and 3,000 to 4,000 feet deep, between almost perpendicular walls of gray granite, and here and there a dark yellow pine rooted in a crevice of either wall, and clinging with desperate tenacity to its dizzy elevation. The isolation of the Yosemite—the absolute wildness of its sylvan solitudes, many miles from human settlement or cultivation—its cascade 2,000 feet high, though the stream which makes this leap has worn a channel in the hard bed rock to a depth of 1,000 feet—renders it the grandest marvel that ever met my gaze. Next to Yosemite, I judge that Niagara has more distinct and diverse attributes of sublimity than any other. Its volume is so vast that its height is dwarfed when measured by the eye alone. You do not believe that it can be 150 feet from the surface below the fall till you have given your apprehension time to expand and adjust itself to the grand proportions of the scene."

THE toilets of the ladies on occasion of the grand ball of the City of Paris to the Czar were miracles of elegance and beauty. "Flowers and other ornaments of preceding years had given way to lace in all its forms. Brussels application; point-d'Angleterre; black Chantilly; Alencon, yellow with age; and even old Argentan, known to connoisseurs as having been made with the needle, were to be seen in wonderful profusion. One lady wore such a quantity of fine old Venetian point on a gold-colored satin as would have equaled the value of a knight's ransom. Happy woman to possess such a treasure! Happier still to be able to show it to the world! Happiest of all to display it in such a presence!

"BROAD macadamized road to perjury" is so decidedly expressive that it is not likely to go out of use; and in making use of it General Sheridan has shown that he is as capable of making the chips fly with the pen as with the sword. He sends "whirling up the valley" all the Earlys he comes across.

CITY MATTERS.

A Pleasant Occasion.

On Saturday last a number of members of the daily press of this city visited the summer resort of Mr. Thomas Costamagna, at Perrysville. Carriages had been provided by the host, and after a delightful drive of seven miles, over one of the best roads in the county, the party arrived at the "White House," where they met with a warm reception from its gentlemanly proprietor. Mr. Costamagna, who was formerly attached to the press of this city, has but recently taken charge of this establishment, and has already shown himself to be peculiarly adapted for the business. Besides other improvements which he has inaugurated, he has commenced the construction of a large pond upon his extensive grounds, into which he contemplates placing several thousand fish in order to afford his guests an opportunity of exercising their piscatorial inclinations. After passing over the fields and inspecting the beautiful garden, the company assembled in the spacious dining room, where a magnificent repast had been prepared, and which was served up in a manner unsurpassed by any city hotel. Upon the removal of the cloth a meeting was organized, when speeches were made and toasts drank in delicious wine. About midnight the party separated, and returned to the city, delighted with the excursion, and completely satisfied that the "White House," under the proprietorship of Mr. Costamagna, was destined to have a successful career.

Exhibition of Agricultural Implements.

As was announced throughout Washington and adjoining counties, an exhibition of agricultural implements and machinery was held at Burgettstown Friday. Owing to a misunderstanding the attendance was not so large as was anticipated, but there were some hundreds of farmers present, in every way qualified to judge of the merits of manufactures of this class. The mowing machines, which were thoroughly and constantly tested throughout the day, were the chief objects of interest, especially as the large number of the farmers were present purposely to purchase. There were on the ground the Aetna, Buckeye, Jr., Hubbard, Excelsior, World, Union and Champion Mowers.

The Excelsior, the original dropper, manufactured by Messrs. Brown, Suberling & Co., Massillon, Ohio, and exhibited from J. Knox's, 137 Liberty street, general agent, received the admiration of all for its lightness of draught and ease of management in a machine of its great power. The Buckeye, jr., manufactured by Messrs. Aultman & Co., Canton, Ohio, and exhibited by the Messrs. Kirk, of Washington, Penna., sustained its reputation as a light, clean mower, and had many friends. The Champion, manufactured at Springfield, Ohio, and exhibited by Messrs. Beckham & Long, general agents, 127 Liberty street, did good work, and excited the curiosity of the spectators from its ingenious construction, but being a new machine in this section, the opinions concerning it were conflicting. The "World," from J. Knox's, manufactured by E. Ball & Co., Canton, Ohio, also a new machine, cut-gear, worked to the satisfaction of all. The Union machine, manufactured and sold by John Hall & Co., 121 Liberty street, being an old and well-tried favorite in Washington county, fully sustained its good name as a light, well made mower, and found ready sale among the farmers. There was a new self-rake exhibited on the Hubbard machine, which attracted much attention, and would doubtless do its work well.

Altogether the exhibition, as a display of mowing machines, was a success, and went far to show the perfection to which they had been brought.

As for the exhitors, being agents, the affair was more directly advantageous to them, coming as it did at a time when these machines were wanted, than are our county fairs as a rule. The crops throughout the country present the most beautiful appearance, and could not be better, causing a general good feeling to exist among the farmers.

Pittsburgh Female College.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

Thirty years ago, in a controversy with members of the Pittsburgh Conference of the M. E. Church, on education for the clergy, I discovered and developed my own power of saying bitter things. The hot shot and shell which those old Peter Cartwrights taught me to mould, have since stood me in stead, in many a battle with the powers of darkness. I have, long ago, learned to recognize the right of the workingman or woman, to teach from pulpit or platform the truth which may be specially impressed on his or her mind, without reference to classical acquirements, and the M. E. Church has become an especial patron of learning. So the world moves. So, like pebbles in a stream, we grind the sharp corners off one another. Twenty-five years ago a respectable young merchant, of East Liberty, sold the furniture and wardrobe of his dead wife, at public auction. Her father, who had purchased them less than a year before, as a wedding outfit, offered him the original cost, that he might preserve them as mementoes of his lost daughter. But the bereaved husband thought he could get more, put them up at auction, got his father to bid against hers, and so realized handsomely. Then a woman who would discuss the laws she was taxed to support and compelled to obey, and under which every instinct of her nature could be outraged, was more of a monster than the newly discovered Giraffe.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings last ten fair girls, all in white, on the pulpit platform of a Methodist church, showing by its structure the latest advance in culture and refinement, read their graduating essays and received their degrees, some in Latin, some in English literature; and a Methodist preacher, Rev. Miller, pastor of the Smithfield Street Church, a great, strong man, with a voice like a northern tempest, one of those men before whom women find it so easy to acknowledge masculine superiority, stood and told them to go out into the world, not simply to lead men by ministering to their appetites and passions; but to take their stand on the sublime hights of Christian duty, and become teachers and leaders in the upward path of the race—to go publicly, if duty called—to enlist on the side of Right in the old and ever new battle with Wrong; and

"Be a hero in the fight!"

He added, "if women had the election franchise we would have less crime." You may laugh, Mr. Editor; and your readers may laugh; but "We are coming father Abraham, six hundred million more."

You have gone before us, you who have fallen in the fray. You may not have understood what was meant by the movements of your corp or division or regiment or company of the grand army. You simply obeyed orders—did the duty of the hour while the commander in chief, he who rideth forth conquering and to conquer, until earth shall acknowledge Him as King of Kings, directed all the evolutions. How often some division of the advancing hosts has been defeated, routed, cut up, forced to fly? There has been many a Winchester when Sheridan was twenty miles away and his black horse out at pasture or without a shoe, but the army is marching on. They're coming, coming, coming. Can it be possible that this dust of mine will be still when that tramp, tramp passes across my grave as the yoke-breakers sweep on with "Equality Before the Law," emblazoned on their banners? The success of the college is gratifying. But I think the reading prize should have been given to Dr. Pershing's daughter or the young lady who read "Famine." I have not her name. JANE G. SWISSHELM.

THE SIXTH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—The usual summer vacation of the congregation of the Sixth Presbyterian church has commenced. Divine service was held for the last time until next fall, yesterday morning. The pastor, Rev. Prof. Samuel J. Wilson, D. D., will pass the "heated term" at St. Catharine's, Canada West.

Three Grand International

First Prize Gold Medals in place of one. One of these has been awarded to the firm of "Steinway & Sons" of New York; one to the American firm exhibiting from Boston, classified according to merit, Messrs. Steinway first, and the remaining one to Broadwood of London.

This result, though perfectly justified by the great superiority of the American Instruments, will doubtless create a profound sensation throughout musical Europe.

Without, however, wishing to detract from the merits of other makers, I must say that the pianos exhibited by Steinway & Sons, of New York, have, through the marvelous grandeur of their tone, and the novelty of their construction, excited by far the greatest wonderment and admiration of alike piano-makers, musicians, professional artists and the general musical public who surround the Steinway instruments in dense crowds from morning till night.

The Daily Commercial

MONDAY, JULY 1, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

THE letter of JENNIE JUNE, our Fashion correspondent, will be found on the third page.

THE Committee of the New York Constitutional Convention to whom was referred the question of suffrage have made majority and minority reports—the former by Mr. GREELEY. They are at variance on many points of the suffrage question. The majority proposes to confine suffrage to males without distinction of color. It proposes the following qualifications: 1. Adult rational manhood. 2. Citizenship of the United States of not less than thirty days' standing. 3. Residence in the State for the year preceding. 4. Residence in the election district for the last thirty days. 5. Freedom from crime. 6. Exemption from dependence on others through pauperism or guardianship. The following is what it says on female suffrage:

"Your committee does not recommend an extension of the elective franchise to women. However defensible in theory, we are satisfied that public sentiment does not demand, and would not sustain, an innovation so revolutionary and sweeping—so openly at war with a distribution of duties and functions between the sexes, as venerable and pervading as government itself, and involving transformations so radical in social and domestic life."

Mr. OPDYKE has introduced as an independent proposition, that the future qualification of impartial suffrage shall be ability to read and write—the only basis at all consistent with the stability and enduring character of our Government. The whole subject will come up for discussion in the Convention at an early day. The main points of the majority report will be adopted.

IN one of his Connecticut speeches, Mr. SEWARD said:

"All the difference there is between you of New England and the South has been produced by this—that you began to improve your labor and skill, and to enlarge the means of diffusing knowledge fifty years in advance of the South. That is all. They are behind you in these things. Hereafter, send them soldiers, schoolmasters, teachers and ministers of the Gospel, and do not forget to send your artisans and mechanics. Perfect the system of labor there; bring it up to the standard of New England, and elevate the standard of knowledge to your own level, and there will never be found in the future the blood of a brother upon a brother's skirts in these happy United States."

This sounds well, but what is the fact? How long has it been since a "Yankee" was safe in the South? And what, even now, is his chance there as a teacher, a schoolmaster, or a minister? The Secretary's proclivity to rose-water views of things is wonderful; and notwithstanding his experience at that sort of thing has been such as would have made almost any other man cautious, he seems not to have found out that his thirty-day prophesying was long since "played out." When the war closed, thousands from New England went South, where their presence would have been as valuable to it as to themselves; but most, if not all of them, were compelled to leave on account of the rebelliousness of the Southern people; and it is not likely that the attempt will be made again, even at the invitation of Mr. SEWARD, before works mete for repentance have been shown.

THE MEXICAN DRAMA.

The Mexican Liberalists are executing their purposes with an unsparing hand, and by so doing they are in danger of causing the voice, if not the hand, of every civilized nation to be raised against them. The shooting of MAXIMILIAN was an unnecessary proceeding. It will occasion nothing but regret, and work great damage to the Liberal cause. If JUAREZ could not prevent it then it is a speaking fact that barbarism predominates in the country, and that, though the official head of the nation, he cannot govern it. We suspect JUAREZ could not save MAXIMILIAN. If this be so, we shall soon see him making a trial of his powers to save himself,—for the organized elements of barbarism that took the life of MAXIMILIAN, and would not even surrender his body, will not hesitate to play the Mexican and revolutionize. If it shall turn out, however, that JUAREZ would not, though able, respond to the appeal of not only the United States but of nearly all Europe and spare his captive's life, that fact, when it shall become known, will go far to isolate Mexico from the family of civilized nations. More especially will it cause the withdrawal of no small part of the sympathy and aid whereby he has won his victories. For though the people of this country had no sympathy with MAXIMILIAN, but quite the opposite feeling, they perceive no reason for killing him after he had fallen; and having asked for his life, we had a right, under the circumstances, to expect the request would be granted; if not on its merits, at least to evince a sense of gratitude for our more than friendship.

It is clear that the Government at Washington have a duty to perform, not only on account of the circumstances surrounding the melancholy fate of MAXIMILIAN, but for the indignity to the flag of this country by those who took SANTA ANNA from the Virginia. There is in this proceeding that which, it is presumed, Mr. SEWARD will not overlook. In the eyes of the world it will be bad enough to have it appear that Mexico, though befriended by us in every emergency, did not hesitate to deny our first request, made, too, in the name of humanity; but when to this is added a deliberate indignity to our flag, the case will not permit of silence or excuse.

ELECTIVE POLICE MAGISTRATES.

Every community has important interests involved in the administration of justice, by the courts and according to law. Evasions of law and justice, in the practice of courts, occasion, very properly, dissatisfaction and alarm among good citizens. Such citizens in New York have expressed their profound concern at the condition of some of the courts of that city. The Boston Advertiser, on a recent occasion, speaks of the discharge of a grand jury occasioning much concern and comment. It appears that the attention of the grand jury was directed to certain gambling houses in Broadway, with the purpose of indicting their proprietors. The Prosecuting Attorney, who is a candidate for re-election, instructed the jury that it was not their province to originate business but to act on such as was brought before them. Whether the jury acceded to this idea or not, they were promptly discharged, without completing the contemplated action in reference to the gambling houses.

Our grand juries, fortunately, are not yet hampered by such counsel and control as appear to have operated in this case. And our courts cannot be charged, or suspected even, of allowing the hope or fear of the vote at an ensuing election to affect their official action. But it appears to be sadly otherwise in New York. And the condition there is charged upon the mode of choosing the officers—judges and prosecuting attorneys. Of course, this must be an unsafe method, when the popular majority, or when a class large enough to wield the balance of power, is so debased as to desire a lax administration of justice. Hence, in that city, which, for expensiveness in the aggregate and ineffectiveness for good, in the details, stands a conspicuous beacon, good and law-abiding citizens have lost all confidence in the elective method of choosing court officers.

The writer referred to designated some of the points in which the processes, and consequently the ends, of law are badly affected by the elective principle. Among them are the difficulty of securing an arrest of the offender, and the uncertainty of getting a commitment from an elective magistrate, and, if this is effected, then the attorney must be got to prosecute, and, if a verdict is given, then the next hitch is in getting the culprit sentenced. With such friction in the administration of justice in criminal cases, it is not surprising that citizens should be alarmed, or that they should look with anxious eyes to the Constitutional Convention for the inauguration of a better system.

MR. SEWARD'S REMARKABLE SPEECH.

We cannot say that we admire the taste exhibited by Mr. SEWARD in his classification of the citizens of this country, or that we admit the correctness of the imputation which he throws, at least impliedly, on the native born citizens of the Northern States, in comparison with adopted citizens, of foreign birth. We believe Mr. SEWARD has always had a weakness on this point, but in his Baltimore speech, it appears in a form too offensive to pass unnoticed. The report by telegraph says that Mr. SEWARD began with some humorous remarks about the Bostonians. We are not quite sure, where in his speech the humorous ends and the serious begins. And we shall have to leave it to each one of our readers to determine for himself, whether the following sentiment belongs to the facetious or the serious utterance of the Secretary:

"There seems to be an equalization of the political atmosphere going on, and happily, I perceive, resulting from the infusion of an element very little taken notice of in our country. I mean the adopted or naturalized element."

The Secretary then proceeds to say that he had heard down East of persons who would not pay respect to the President or look on his Secretary without a frown, and then adds:

"So far as I have heard, they were of native birth in the East. On the other hand I will say this, that there was never an adopted cousin of the United States North, South, East or West, that hesitated to acknowledge the authority of the nation in the person of the Chief Magistrate."

This, and more of the same character, may be humorous from some misconceived American stand-point. But if it is meant to be serious, it is a gross insult to the loyalty, not only, but to the good manners of our American people, besides laboring under the drawback of being totally at variance with the facts in both of its statements.

And what does this mean?

"Then again, the more need any person has of protection and care by the government, whether for defense against a foreign enemy or intestine dangers, the humble and lower the class may seem, it will be the last one which will fail to recognize in the Chief Magistrate of the United States the defender and maintainer of the rights and liberties of the American people."

We presume that the Secretary means by this descriptive sentence the "element" that he had before referred to. If so, the above sentence will bear reading over a second time to get its full meaning and significancy.

THE Tribune's Paris correspondent, intending to refer to the attempt to kill the Czar, frames the second sentence thus:

"The few simple facts of the attempt at assassination, mixed with a great deal of ink, and diluted to make them go the further with a great deal of philosophic, Tupperesque irreflextions, have been spread out by able editors over reams of newspaper."

What is that?

THE four milion over-issue of city bonds is the legacy of Mayor Monroe, whom Mr. Johnson proposes to reinstate in office. This scrip enters so largely into the circulating currency in the city that the fact amounts to a universal calamity, which will give to the restoration of the deposed Mayor a peculiar interest.

IT is denied that the Dunderberg sprung a leak, or that anything is the matter with her. Nevertheless it was thought best to make an examination. She was found perfectly reliable and sea-worthy, and is now taking in coals for her voyage to Cherbourg. Mr. Webb takes her to France himself, and will probably steam away on the morning of the 4th of July.

THE sum of two hundred thousand dollars in gold presented to the Pope by the American Bishops, is not as large as previous accounts had led one to suppose. Nevertheless, it is positive proof of the devotion and liberality of the American branch of the Church, and with the other contributions will assist to replenish the coffers of His Holiness, which are said to be quite low.

THE astute editor of the Cincinnati Commercial, not having a good opinion of Pittsburgh journalists, indulges in the following sage remarks:

"Some one is needed in Pittsburgh to cause an appetite for newspapers. It is to be hoped that the long war in which they are expending their strength will provoke some of them into vigilance. Genius is sometimes developed under oppressive circumstances, and it is possible that a journalist may be begotten in a newspaper controversy."

The chap who, on being turned away from the Fifth Avenue hotel, was so deeply concerned for the character of the New York Hotels that he charitably hoped somebody would start a good one, doubtless belonged to the class which our mild-mannered contemporary so much adorns. The Cincinnati Commercial had a respectable circulation here and in sundry other places until we drove it out. No doubt that "circumstance" was very "oppressive."

THE London Times is indulging in extraordinary freedom of language in speaking of—rather to—Queen Victoria. It does not hesitate to tell her that continued seclusion—she having mourned her husband five years—is working badly for her and her kingdom, and that, if persisted in, it may teach her people how to get along without a Royal Head—at any rate, that such a course will result in a depreciated legacy to her son—the Prince of Wales—the occasion of double regret, considering his habits and pursuits. It is complained, also, that some of the crowned heads who have honored Paris with their presence, "might have been induced to give England a visit, but with the doors of our palaces closed, and our Queen too much occupied in a grief of five years' standing to exercise a hospitality worthy of such visitors, England must forego the pleasure of their company." It is quite plain that if the English were a revolutionary people, we might reasonably expect a disturbance.

THE Chicago Times avers the much-praised Nicholson pavement is a humbug and failure. It says "it is a very slight improvement on the old plan of the horizontal planking which was first introduced and extensively practiced in this city twenty years ago. This plank did very well on streets where there was no heavy teaming, and so does the Nicholson style of flooring. So long as Chicago remained a country village, three-inch oak planks, laid on a compact roadway of sand, were found to constitute an economical and satisfactory style of street flooring." It is proper to say that this statement does not agree with the representations made by others, who maintain that there is nothing like the Nicholson. Different cities are much in doubt what style of pavement to adopt. It is represented that the asphalte used in Paris is "a triumphant success." The secret is in the nature of the composition and the way of applying it. For footways the asphalte is heated in cauldrons balanced on trunnions, and then poured into buckets, whence it is spread out smooth by hot irons. The result is a pavement level as a garden path, easy and durable for travel, and the sound of the heaviest wheel is muffled. The saving comes not only in horse-flesh, but in the ear-drums and nerves of citizens.

The Festival in Rome.

The priestly assemblage and the Festival in Rome on the 29th, of which the Cable has given us an account, constitute an important event. There were present from six to eight hundred Bishops and thirty to forty thousand Priests, besides numerous Cardinals. There were the Latin Patriarch of Jerusalem, the Armenian Primate of Constantinople, the Archbisops of Tarragona, Mexico, Michoacan and Corfu, the Bishops of Orleans, Aneyra (Armenian), Volterra, Cesarea (Armenian), Lipari, Fabriano, Tricarico, Beverley (Cornthwaite), Madrid and Cyprus (Armenians), Scios, Cassia (Apostolic Vicar for the Gallas tribe in Africa), Seriopolis (Apostolic Vicar of Nankin in China), the Maronite Patriarch of Antioch, the Armenian Archbishops of Aleppo and Amasia, the Bishop of Sebenico, the Armenian Bishops of Trebisond and Erzeroum, the Maronite Bishops of Tyre and Sidon, and Heliopolis or Balbek, and the Syrian Bishop of Gezira, Bishops and Priests from America, Australia, and from every part of the world. As an ecclesiastical spectacle, it will long hold prominence, and contribute—as it is designed—to a revival of the cause of Roman Catholicism everywhere.

"A Vocal Abomination."

The New York Gazette scores away vigorously at "a vocal abomination," which, it is [illegible] feared, will nevertheless continue. It [illegible] for instance, to the "fashionable style [illegible] ing" the air in the Me[illegible]. "I know [illegible] deemer liveth," in whic[illegible] tended simply to bring out pro[illegible] know, but which the "fashionab[illegible] and drizzles into a repulsiv[illegible] less blotch." The way it is [illegible] tells thus:

"As nearly as types can ex[illegible] of singing this tune is th[illegible] Redeemer liveth." But th[illegible] drawls it out something li[illegible] that," etc., mingled w[illegible] tremblings, and twistings[illegible] to which an unfortun[illegible]."

The critic cont[illegible] the following fashio[illegible]

"The beautif[illegible] When the Swallows Home[illegible] excellent subject for the po[illegible] is the air, 'Come Ye Discon[illegible] this air taken from Von Weber's [illegible] opted as a vesper hymn. 'Softly Now [illegible] Day.' Anything particularly vivacious an[illegible] the fashionable singer no opportunity fo[illegible] ay, but whenever something pianissimo, legato, [illegible] delicate comes up, then with repeated lunges of her dreadful voice does she utterly pierce through and through the unfortunate medley. 'That strain again! It hath a dying fall.' But it never hath such a fall, when done to death in the distorted portamento style. Mouthing music is murdering it; therefore sing neatly and in a cleanly manner. Anybody can fearfully and dismally howl, and many have calliope voices. Be not like unto the possessors of such. Speak out your words, not trippingly, nor chewing them to shreds; laboriously vocalizing is hard to bear."

Reception of the President at Annapolis.

The President and party were received at Annapolis on Saturday morning with great enthusiasm. The addresses of welcome were made by Governor Swann and Judge Carmichael, President of the Constitutional Convention. The latter said: "The measures inaugurated by you for the purpose of binding up the wounds of our bleeding country, were received throughout the State of Maryland with universal acceptance. It was the policy of wise statesmanship promoting the work of patriotism and philanthropy." The President replied at some length, alluding very often to the Constitution, and saying: "Though I may go down and perish, my proud consolation at the last will be, I have done my duty, and this for me will be a sufficient reward." The President expressed himself highly gratified with the cordial reception tendered him. Secretary Seward was called for and made a speech. He said: "If you will insist on continuing the insane division of the East, I shall be found among the politicians and statesmen of the West." The party visited the Naval Academy, and after dining with Governor Swann, left for Washington.

THE New York Times complains that although it called attention to the fact that "a respectable person had testified in a court of justice that he paid Alderman Loew $20,000 in cash and $30,000 in stock for passing an ordinance in the Common Council for allowing the People's Gas Company to lay gas pipes in the public streets," no notice has been taken of it, and "the thing is treated as a common place matter of fact affair." The Times don't wonder because it is the regular way of passing bills, 'with money in them,' through the Common Council."

SOMEBODY has paid a visit to Senator Wade at his residence in Ohio, and written all he said and heard. According to this authority, the Senator has had injustice done him. His conversation is reported thus:

"Why, sir, if you would make an equitable distribution of all the property in the United States to-day among the people, in five years it would again be in the hands of a few men. Such a measure would not be just, nor would it be of any practicable advantage to the poor people if done. The editors and correspondents who have been writing about my speech know very well I am not in favor of such a foolish thing as the distribution of property, or of disturbing in any way property rights."

The Senator is reported as not caring anything about the Presidency, and don't think of it.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

In consequence of the per capita tax at New York having been increased to three dollars, ship owners are preparing to land emigrants elsewhere, and with that view have sent agents to the Eastern States to provide for the exigencies of the case.

The Hartford Courant mentions a drug store in that city where can be seen a few specimens of the Chinese lycopadium, a plant which possesses the remarkable property of retaining its life, even after drying for several years. If put in a dry place the leaves turn brown, and the plant draws together into a kind of ball. If then the roots are placed in water, the plant soon unfolds and takes a bright green color again.

The steamer Eagle, from New York to Havana, on Wednesday, had but sixteen passengers. The yellow fever reports were the cause.

The suppression of the sale and firing of crackers on the ensuing Fourth is warmly urged by the press of several of the principal cities, and in some of them the prohibition has been decreed.

The Boston Zion's Herald calls upon Congress to pass a law prohibiting the sale of whisky in the South. That straw would truly break the camels back.

A very cheering feature in this season's business in California is the enormous yield of wool received from the southern counties. Tulare alone is set down for 600,000 pounds, worth to the producers not less than $110,000. Fresno, Merced and Stanislaus are also becoming large wool producers.

Montreal, with a present population of about one hundred and fifty thousand, and rapidly growing in population and wealth, proposes to have a public park of seven hundred acres.

A Kansas letter says the grasshoppers which are devastating the country are locusts. Everything is "fish, to their net," from the leaves of the stately cottonwood down to the stinking (excuse the word) fennel. Of garden vegetables they are passionately fond. A man may have a garden worth a thousand dollars, and in twenty minutes it is not worth enough to hire the cheapest kind of a boy to pull the stalks.

The man who killed another in Charleston recently and who was indicted for murder was tried and acquitted. Killing is no murder there yet.

The Boston Congregationalist laments the Sabbath breaking incident to President Johnson's visit to that city, and also calls attention to the fact that few attendants at church assume a devout attitude or close their eyes, or follow the minister when he is leading in prayer.

PERSONAL.

One who knows Mr. Marcus Otterburg, our newly appointed Minister to Mexico, denies that he is either good-looking or noted for talent, unless the pertinacity with which he always sought to further his own interest be taken for talent. A Republican in Milwaukee when that party came to be powerful, he was rewarded for his services as a saloon orator with the appointment of doorkeeper to the Legislature. He tied himself to Gen. Schurz during the Presidential canvass—much to the disgust of the latter—and played the French dancing master before the people whenever he could get a chance. From an ultra radical, he changed to become a supporter of "my policy." Altogether, he is in himself a man of no particular consequence, and will reflect no credit on our country.

Mr. Rangabi, the Greek Minister, continues to be the recipient of numerous attentions from Government officials, diplomats and citizens, in Washington. Mr. Rangabi enjoys a very high reputation as a statesman and a scholar, and he is also honored from the sympathy felt for Greece and Candia. The Columbia College has conferred the degree of LL.D. on him. He had a very interesting interview with General Grant, who manifested quite a lively interest in the increasing power and importance of Greece.

—"Dod's Book of Dignities" affords the following extraordinary instances of longevity among the great men of the law in England: Ex-Chancellor Brougham, 89 years; ex-Chancellor St. Leonards, 86 years; ex-Chancellor of Ireland, Blackburn, 85; ex-Judge, Lord Wensleydale, 85; ex-Chief Justice of Ireland, Lefroy, 91; ex-Chief Baron Pollock, 84; Acting Judge of Admiralty, Lushington, 85. Total age of seven persons, 604 years. This gives an average to each of more than 86 years and five months.

—Mrs. Jefferson Davis was present at the concert given in Montreal in honor of the delegates to the Young Men's Christian Association Convention.

—In the list of the graduating class of the General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church, New York, is the name of John Heber McCandless, A. B., Pittsburgh.

—Admiral Farragut will be absent about one year. His flagship is the Franklin, man-of-war. His ship is the most complete, effective and finished of the American navy. She is the Franklin, 74, rebuilt throughout, entirely new, and of admirable construction, with steam and a formidable battery. Her first port will be Cherbourg, and her cruising ground the Mediterranean and the northern seas. Before leaving lower New York Bay, he had a reception, when upwards of four hundred of his lady and gentlemen friends were entertained on board his ship.

—Mr. C. A. Dana will commence the publication of his daily evening paper in New York about the middle of September. It will be published at a penny, and the Herald remarks "we are entitled to conclude that it will not disappoint the expectations of those interested in it."

IMPROVEMENT OF THE
Minnesota, Mississippi and Wisconsin Rivers.
UNITED STATES ENGINEER'S OFFICE, ST. PAUL, MINN., June 22, 1867.
Sealed Proposals in duplicate will be received at this office, addressed to the undersigned, until 12 M., THURSDAY, July 25th, as follows:

FIRST.
Proposals for Removing Snags and Boulders from the Channel of the Minnesota River.
This work is in two sections. The Upper Section being from the junction of the Yellow Medicine River to Mankato, 133 miles, has reefs of small and large boulders, and snags singly or in groups. The width is about 200 feet; the low water channel way 20 to 40 feet wide, with depth from 10 to 24 inches, and current half to 2½ miles per hour. The Lower Section being from Mankato to the Little Rapids, 61 miles, is mainly obstructed by snags. The width is about 250 to 300 feet; the low water channel way 40 to 80 feet wide, with depth from 15 to 20 inches, and current one to two miles per hour. The Little Rapids at low water can only be passed by light vessels of one foot draft. With a rise of four feet, these rapids are no obstruction.
The banks throughout the river are generally alluvial from 10 to 20 feet above low water. The floods reach 25 feet above low water. By the term "snag" is meant sunken logs and stumps, and trees with roots imbedded in the bottom of the stream. They vary in diameter from one-half to 3½ feet. The boulders will not require stronger lifting machinery than the snags will, and may be deposited in deep holes, but snags must be destroyed or placed where they cannot again wash into the channel way. The work will be let entire or in such parts as the engineer may determine. $37,000 is appropriated for this work.
Contractors will state the price of removal per snag of the following diameters above the root: First, between 6 inches and 20 inches. Second, between 20 inches and 30 inches. Third, between 30 inches and 36 inches. Fourth, between 36 inches and 42 inches. The price of removing boulders will be stated by the ton or cubic yard.
Contractors will be required to furnish their own boats, machinery, &c., as well as labor, to interfere as little as practicable with navigation, and to show that they possess the necessary skill and experience, and that the means to be used are adapted to the river, and suitable in construction and mechanical power. They will be required to commence work at two points at least by the first of September next, the stage of water permitting.
These proposals must be indorsed on the envelope "Proposals for removing snags and boulders from the Minnesota river."

SECOND.
Proposals to Sell to the United States Two (2) Substantial Light Draught Steamers of the Following General Dimensions, viz:
No. 1.—Hull, 120 feet long, 25 feet wide, exclusive of guards, with 3½ or 4 feet depth of hold, to draw 18 inches light. Boilers, two (2) 22 feet long, 33 inches diameter, 4 flues. Engines double, cylinders 6 feet stroke, 18 inches diameter, poppet valves.
No. 2.—Hull 150 long, 32 feet wide, exclusive of guards, with 4 to 5 feet depth of hold; to draw 20 inches light. Boilers, three (3) 24 feet long by 38 inches diameter, 4 flues. Engines double, cylinders 84 inches by 22 inches, poppet valves.
The bids may be for either side wheel or stern wheel boats. The wheel or wheels to be of suitable diameter, and length of bucket to correspond with dimensions of boilers and engines given above.
Boilers to be of best ⅜ inches charcoal iron, capable of sustaining a working pressure of 150 pounds to the square inch, with improved guages for testing pressure of steam and height of water.
Engines to be of most approved pattern now in use on Western waters, with "doctor" for supplying boilers, and "nigger," or capstan, and hoisting engines.
Boat not be over two (2) years old, in good repair, sound condition, substantially built of best material, and fully equipped with spars, derricks, capstan, bells, steam whistle, tools, tackle and all needful outfit for immediate service.
It is essential that the boats offered for sale as above specified have a bluff, or well rounded bow, in order to insure a great amount of bearing capacity forward.
The cabin required will be of moderate dimensions, such as usually furnished to freight or tow boats.
The proposals must describe minutely the construction and dimensions of every part of hull and upper works, machinery and outfit, and place where built, and must be endorsed on the envelope "Proposals to sell Steamboats."
Fifteen days after signing contracts will be allowed for delivery of boats.

THIRD.
Proposals to wreck steamer "Northern Light."
The Northern Light lies in the channel in the lower end of Coon Slough, where she sunk in April, 1866, and since abandoned by her owners. The Government reserves no right to possess anything removed from her—the wreckers to enjoy all the rights pertaining to such enterprises.
Contractors will state the charge for removing every part of this vessel and machinery down as low five feet below extreme low water during the present season, and no bid will be considered unless the party offering it shall give satisfactory evidence that he is reliable and possessed of the ability to perform the work.
Proposals to be endorsed on the envelope "Proposals to wreck steamer Northern Light."
A printed copy of this advertisement must be attached to each proposal herein solicited. Each bid must contain a written guarantee, signed by two responsible persons. Blanks for proposals will be furnished at this office on application.
The Government reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
Parties desiring further information can obtain the same by calling at this office, where maps of the rivers and drawings of vessels for removing snags and boulders will be shown to all who desire to make proposals.

NEW YORK AND PARIS FASHIONS

FOR JULY.

NEW YORK, June, 1867.

CLUBS AND CLUB HOUSES.

Clubs are getting to be almost as fashionable an institution for men in New York as in London. There are now eight or ten all well patronized that can afford to pay from six to fifteen thousand dollars per year for the rent of a handsome house, and goodness knows how much more for the support of their establishment, its furniture, its attendance, its dinners, its suppers and luxuries of every description.

Ladies are not often invited to participate in club house entertainments, but the other evening one of them gave an inauguration reception on the occasion of opening their new and elegant house on Madison Avenue, and for once spittoons were all huddled together in a closet and the entree permitted to the crinolined friends of the members.

Speaking for the information of those ladies who have never seen the interior of a club house, it may be as well to remark that there is nothing disagreeable about its general aspect. On the contrary it is rather attractive than otherwise. The gentlemen only exclude the fair sex to the extent of participating in their luxuries, not from aiding in the task of securing their comfort.

Every wife has heard her husband, some time or other, ask what she always gets such confoundedly homely girls for? And it need scarcely be said that the club housemaids are not homely. On the contrary, they are very pretty and wear coquetish head dresses.

There is a total absence of what is so common in private houses, and that is an appearance of stint and economy. From the broad marble vestibule and wide imposing staircase to the topmost floor through reception, dinner, billiard, reading, chess, and numberless other rooms, all is ample, commodious and abundant. The carpets are the softest, the pictures the finest, the chairs the easiest that are to be found; while the reading room is supplied with all the latest books, papers and magazines; the music room with the costliest of grand pianos, and the dining room with rare and fragrant flowering plants, placed in the niches of panelled walls, representing fruits, game, and all sorts of table delicacies, all of which put in a substantial appearance from the hands of a French cook, an artist, who issues his orders with a grand air, and considers himself prime minister of the whole concern—which he is.

It is not at all surprising that the married members of such an institution as this hurry away from guzzled chops and soggy biscuit served by "Bridget," and announce that they will dine at the "Club;" but it is a pity and a shame that women too have not such resorts as a relief to washing-day horrors and cold meat dinners. Men have the best of it here, that is certain, but it is possible that our turn will come, and then well, may be we won't have clubs and good dinners!

DIAMONDS.

It is an interesting fact to those contemplating the purchase of diamonds that the price is steadily advancing; that it has already nearly doubled on that of ten years ago, and is expected to go much higher. This rapid increase in value has taken place without any reference to paper money, diamonds being always reckoned by a gold standard. The reason is to be found partly in the falling off of production.

Diamonds do not obey the usual commercial law of demand and supply, on the contrary the greater the demand the less grows the supply. No new mines have been discovered and none are likely to be while the old ones are lazily worked by wealthy monopolies and subject to all sorts of government restrictions.

It is not true, however, that the scarcity has caused the introduction of spurious stones into the market, simply because it is impossible. A real diamond cannot be imitated, and a false one can be detected as far as it can be seen by a person experienced in the handling of gems. The reputation of the large houses that sell the majority of diamonds bought, is pledged to the quality of the stones, and a mistake would be dishonor.

Moreover, there is no demand for sham diamonds, so say the most respectable dealers; they could not sell them at half price, or quarter price, or any price if they had them. When people want to buy such things they go to some "original" Jacobs or California diamond store, and know that they are buying cut quartz notwithstanding the fine names grafted upon it.

Twenty-five years ago very few persons wore real diamonds, now nearly everybody wears more or less, and the ambition to own a diamond ring or ear-rings is as common as the old fashioned desire for one good black silk dress.

Young girls did not formerly wear diamonds at all, now they display them with all the indifference of dowagers, and anything less than a handsome diamond as an engagement ring would be looked at with contempt. This singlar freak of fashion in selecting diamonds for engagement rings has alone created an immense demand, which there is not the slightest prospect will be lessened until we all become Shakers, or what is equally probable, women resign their privileges to secure their rights.

The size of the stones is of the most importance in determining the relative value of diamonds; a stone weighing one carat, of fine quality, may be purchased for two hundred and fifty dollars, while a magnificent stone weighing ten carats, set as a ring, was valued the other day at nine thousand dollars. The size of such a gem as this makes it unique. It is probably the largest stone in the United States. The most fashionable method of setting diamonds now is in silver in quite the old fashioned style, which is said to be after all the best and most effective for displaying their size and beauty. A large number of valuable diamonds have been lately reset in silver.

The same reasons which have operated to enhance the value of diamonds have led also, though, in a less degree to increase the price of emeralds. These are the only gems which, in a fashionable point of view, rival diamonds.

Pearls have greatly advanced in price within a few months and it is expected will be very scarce and high for some time to come. The cause of this is to be found in the greed for large pearls which not only induces pearl fishermen to throw away the small and comparatively valuless specimens, but also kill and destroy so many young oysters as to threaten the extinction of the entire traffic as a source of revenue. The government has, therefore, ordered the pearl fisheries to be abandoned for a space of three years, during which time pearls will constantly become more scarce and precious.

SHORT WALKING DRESSES.

When short dresses for street wear were introduced we were rejoiced, and considered it a matter for general congratulation. It is to be feared, however, that the moral and physical advantages of this useful and sensible fashion will be all lost in its abuse. The short skirt suggests an altogether quiet and somewhat restricted style of costumes, not especially beautiful or graceful, but neat, cleanly and perfectly adapted to its use. The annoyance of having always to carry about with one an immense mass of material, and drawing it after one in the shape of a dirty trail is so great that it was only reasonable to suppose women generally would eagerly accept an opportunity to rid themselves of it, without being considered unfashionable or eccentric, and so they did.

But vanity and the habit of doing the most foolish things because other people do them, has been too much for the majority of American women, young and old, and they have bedizened and befurbelowed the short dress until it has lost its best characteristics and has become a parody upon itself.

As we have intimated, the beauty of the short dress consists in its convenience, its simplicity, its neatness, its cleanliness, and its adaptation to its specific uses. But when it is made of light flimsy material, when it is cut into all sorts of fantastic shapes, when it is overloaded with trimming, and the narrow skirt accompanied by huge flowing sleeves, the sentiment of the dress is destroyed and apart from all economical or utilitarian considerations, it is bad, because it is inartistic and out of harmony with itself.

The short dress is not a mere matter of fashion; it is capable of being made one of the most efficient aids in the physical regeneration of American women, and we sincerely hope they will not render it abortive or misuse, and afterwards relinquish it at the bidding of any French dressmaker whatsoever, even though she should be one employed by the gracious and graceful Empress. There is another fact in connection with short dresses, which ladies as yet do not clearly or generally understand, and that is the necessity for having a hooped skirt, designed especially for them. The majority of women cannot get out of the habit of buying only one hooped skirt at a time, and they usually select one that they flatter themselves is medium in size and shape, and will suit all occasions. But on the contrary, it suits none at all; it is too long and not the right shape to wear with a short dress, and not long enough or rightly shaped to afford any support to a trained dress.

Buy two hooped skirts at once, one specially designed for short dress, the other for indoor wear. There is no danger that the fashion will be worn out before the skirt, and the additional comfort would pay for the extra outlay, even if you had not two skirts instead of one.

At an evening entertainment lately, we noticed some short dresses, and though made of rich material (one of white silk), they looked shockingly out of place. In fact, the more effort there is made to give an appearance of dress to short costumes the worse they look. In the drawing room they are totally out of place, and in white material, with wide sleeves, make their wearers look like Chinese mandarins rather than the pretty, spirituelle women they would be in a proper dress.

SUMMER BONNETS.

The effort to enlarge the bonnets early in the season proved futile—indeed, has only succeeded in making them smaller than ever. The latest styles worn are mere scraps of lace, surrounded with pearl or crystal drops, or covered with a spray of small flowers, violets, heartsease, daisies, for-get-me-nots, and the like, the color selected with reference to the trimming upon the dress.

Whether it is because the small bonnets have induced every lady to become her own milliner and thus indulge in six bonnets, where before she was confined to one, may be a question; but it is a positive fact that the small bonnets, as worn now-a-days, are constructed with much closer reference to the detail of the toilettes with which they are to be worn than ever before, and in this respect shows correctness of taste, and greatly improve the harmony of the general appearance.

Formerly one huge bonnet, trimmed in nine cases out of ten, with a glaringly ugly ribbon, was worn with every dress, no matter how opposed in color one might be to the other. Now, bonnets cost so little, and are so quickly made, that women generally can afford one to suit every toilette, and the result is the aggrandisement not of the milliners, but those who sell millinery goods, and the adoption in this respect of a much more accurate and complete style of costume.

With a white muslin dress, trimmed with blue ribbon, we saw, for instance, the other day, a little white muslin bonnet, lined with blue silk and trimmed with a rose, a bow of blue ribbon and cappets of white Valenciennes lace at the back.

Another pretty bonnet was of black lace, trimmed with a wreath of drooping crimson fuschsias. It was worn with a dress of grey grenadine and large black llama lace shawl.

It is the style now for bridesmaids to wear bonnets ornamented with long white veils, divided in the center, but descending from each side, so as nearly to envelope the person. This seems to us neither appropriate nor in good taste. The veil should be left to the bride, and the bridesmaids wear either wreaths or a little lace bonnet, which is nothing more than a head-dress without the veil.

Round hats for country wear have made their appearance in great variety. There is the "Garden" hat, the brim of which descends at the front and back, so as to protect the face and neck. There is the small low crowned toquets, the wide brimmed "Sheperdess," and the small flats, as much as possible like the traditional little straw hat worn by the traditional flower girl at a fancy dress ball.

Straw fringes are much used upon the edges of round hats and bands of feather trimming, very common, though not very appropriate to the season.

The correct thing for morning wear in the country, for drinking water at the springs, and the like, are little low crowned round hats, of grey, brown or black straw. The black are trimmed with a curled wreath of red feathers, the brown with a wreath of green, and the grey with a wreath of Bismarck leaves.

WHAT-NOT.

The newest and freshest suits for travelling wear are made of unbleached linen and trimmed with black and white cord or braid. Buff tril de lin or silk linen is also very distingue trimmed with cross cut bands of brown silk stitched on with white. In poplin the very lightest shades of pearl grey are trimmed with cross cut bands of velvet, or fine black and white chene patterns, trimmed with narrow cross cut bands of black and white silk, all stitched on in an ornamental stitch, are the best and most desirable shades and patterns. Mauve, lilac and purple have been so "well worn" and so long, that they have become a uniform which fashionable women are now consigning to their maids.

A new white broche muslin, the figures in white instead of colored, and white muslin shawls, scolloped on the edge and embroidered in a border are among the novelties.

Black lace poplins, short at the back and front, open on the sides, and lined with colored silk, are also new and seem especially adapted for wear over the brilliant organdies which this season are more showy and more striking than ever.

Toilettes of white or striped muslin are among the prettiest and freshest. They are simply made and completed en suite by a Marie Antoinette scarf (a little cape with long rounded ends which cross in front and tie behind). White broche muslins are trimmed with cluny lace; colored muslins with Valenciennes or a frill of the material, muslin striped in lilac and white, or buff and white are all pretty in suits.

White muslin suits with paletots instead of scarfs are in vogue, but are generally made plain; Swiss or India muslin and trimmed with bouillonnes, underneath which ribbon is run. This is edged with white lace.

A new conformator has made its appearance. It is of India rubber and is intended to fit the form so closely that a paper pattern put over it and notched by little spikes which project from all the seams must prove a model for a dress. The mistake of the inventor lies in the simple fact that ladies do not want dresses closely fitted, but drawn in at the waist and expanded over the chest so as to make an elegant figure rather than a perfect fit.

A new "promenade" skirt gored plain, all wool and neatly embroidered in Greek border and other simple patterns, is among the forthcoming fall novelties. It will, I think, prove to be exceedingly well adapted for fall and winter street wear, useful, stylish and ladylike, warm, but not heavy, and capable of being cleaned off nicely. It is in plain colors, green, gray and purple embroidered with black.

My budget is not yet empty but I must close this already too long letter. JENNIE JUNE.

CITY MATTERS.

CLOSING OF SCHOOLS.—The Public Schools of the two cities closed on Friday for the summer vacation, and will reopen in September.

PERSONAL.—Rev. A. H. Wagner, pastor of the Grace Reformed Church, this city, has left upon an easter tour four the benefit his health. His pulpit will be supplied during his absence, and service held as usual.

FISHING EXCURSION.—The Jackson Fishing Club will start on their twelfth annual fishing excursion this morning. They will go to the Tionesta river, about one hundred and eighty miles from this city. A pleasant time is anticipated.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—Excursion tickets at reduced rates will be sold at all stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, good for the 3d, 4th and 5th inst. Although no announcement has been made, doubtless all the railroads centering in the city will issue excursion tickets covering the same period.

FLOUR.—We would refer our grocers and dealers in flour and produce to the price current furnished by T. C. Jenkins, of the "checked front," 273 Liberty street, to be found in another column this morning. It will be of interest to many, and the quotations may be relied on.

BASE BALL.—A match game of base ball was played at Minersville on Saturday afternoon, between the Pittsburgh Base Ball Club, of this city, and the Miama Club, of Minersville, resulting in the success of the Pittsburghers, the score standing: Pittsburgh, 34; Miama, 10.

NEW BARGE CLUB.—A new boat club called the "Ihmsen Barge Club" has been organized in Birmingham. The club have constructed a neat and comfortable boat house, which is moored in the Monongahela river. They have already in their possession three boats, and are about contracting with eastern parties for some others.

SKIFF RACE.—An excitsng skiff race took place on the Ohio river, ten miles above Wheeling, on Tuesday last, between the skiffs "Swift" and "Lightning," manned by picked crews from the United States Survey boats. The distance rowed was three-quarters of a mile, the "Swift" arriving in five minutes and ten seconds, and beating the "Lightning" four lengths.

PITTSBURGH DIVISION, NO. 42, SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—In consequence of the regular meeting night of this Temperance Divsion falling on Thursday, July the Fourth, the meeting for this week will be held to-night at the usual time and place. We understand that this Division contemplate holding a monster pic-nic this month.

SURETY OF THE PEACE.—Jeremiah Coffee was arrested last night, at his residence at Laughlin's Forge, four miles from the city, on the Monongahela river, charged on oath of J. H. McCune with surety of the peace. A young man named John Baker, who interfered with the police in the discharge of their duty, was also arrested and locked up for a hearing.

FIGHT IN THE FIFTH WARD.—A fight occurred yesterday afternoon at the corner of Penn street and Stevenson alley, in the Fifth ward, in which half a dozen young men participated. The police made a descent upon the party, and succeeded in arresting one of the belligerents, named Frank Wall, who was locked up for a hearing this morning.

WORKINGMEN'S MEETING.—A public meeting of workingmen was held on Saturday evening at the corner of Fifth and Smithfield streets. Speeches were delivered by Messrs. Miles S. Humphreys, Geo. W. Baber, J. W. Kreps, W. S. Matthews and Thomas Gundry. A series of resolutions, deprecating the importation of foreign laborers by capitalists, were adopted. A similar meeting will be held in the Allegheny Diamond on Saturday evening next.

EASTERN EXCHANGE DRIVING PARK.—There was a large attendance at the Eastern Exchange Driving Park, on Saturday, to witness the trot to harness for a purse of one hundred dollars. The track was in good condition, and the race was an excellent one. John Cridland's bay mare "Gipsey Girl" and owner's horse "Roan Tom" were the competing nags, the former being the winner in two straight heats—the first in 3:10 and the second heat in 3:02.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—About noon on Saturday a young man named J. Bancker, employed as a fireman on the Steubenville Railroad, while leaning out of his engine was struck on the head by a coke platform, near the shop of the Company, in the Ninth ward, and had his neck dislocated. He was removed to the residence of his uncle, Hugh Johnston, corner of Liberty and Allegheny streets, where he died in a few hours afterwards. The deceased was about twenty years of age, and resided in Birmingham.

POISONED BY MISTAKE.—A little boy by the name of Flaherty, residing with his parents in Holland's Court, off Breckenridge street, in the Second Ward, while strolling along the river bank on Saturday morning, picked up a bottle containing some liquid. In a boy like way, he drank the contents and went home. He soon began to manifest symptoms of having been poisoned, and became insensible. A physician was called in, but the case was so far gone that it is feared the lad cannot recover. The boy is about eight years of age. The nature of the poison in the bottle is not known.

THE BALOON ASCENSIONS ON THE FOURTH.—Professor Wise, the celebrated æronaut, who has made no less than two hundred and forty-six ascensions, has arrived in the city, and is engaged in the preparation for the baloon ascensions at Union Park, Allegheny, on the 4th, 5th and 6th insts. The baloons are all in excellent trim, the bridal baloon "Flying Cloud," being a new mammoth ærial vessel. The Festival gives promise of being a grand affair, and will be participated in by thousands. Programmes of each day's performance will be issued in a few days.

CLOSING EXAMINATION.—The closing examinations at the Third Ward Public Schools, Allegheny, took place on Friday, and the scholars acquitted themselves very creditably. A reading contest by the scholars from the several rooms, for the "Principal's Prize," took place, and the committee, which consisted of Rev. John McMillen, C. C. Boyle, Esq., and James Thorn, Esq., awarded the prize to Miss Eva Ernest, of room No. 17. Awards of honor were also conferred upon several pupils in rooms No. 9 to No. 20, inclusive, for general literary attainments, and for excellence in writing. Honors for proficiency in writing were also given to sixteen pupils from different rooms.

PATENTS GRANTED.—Among the patents issued from the United States Patent Office for the week ending June 18th, 1867, were the following Western Pennsylvanians:

Stabbing Affray in the Third Ward.

Some weeks since a disturbance occurred in the Third ward. James Donovan, one of the parties implicated in the affair, left the city on the succeeding day, but supposing that the matter had been settled, returned on Friday. On Saturday night, about twelve o'clock, he was noticed standing at the corner of Wylie and High streets, when the police arrested him, and conveyed him to the watch-house. After the departure of the police with their prisoner, a number of Donavan's friends attacked a young colored boy named Sewell Taylor, knocking him down and injuring him severely, one of the rowdies cutting him with a knife on the arm, inflicting two slight wounds. Taylor, who is by occupation a barber, happened to have a razor in his possession, which he drew, and inflicted a severe stab upon the left breast of Patrick Hooben. Sewell was arrested, and Hooben was taken to Dr. Donnelly's office, on Grant street, where his wound was dressed, after which he was removed to his residence on High street. His injuries are of a dangerous character, and may result fatally. Sewell was kept in confinement at the Mayor's office until yesterday afternoon, but as no person appeared to enter a charge against him, he was discharged from custody. He states that Hooben stabbed him, and that he used the razor to defend himself.

RATIFICATION MEETING.—The Union Republican County Executive Committee met at the office of the Chairman, Jno. W. Riddell, Esq., on Saturday, and appointed a committee of arrangements for a grand mass meeting, whose names will be found in the call in another column. The committee will meet at the office of C. B. M. Smith, Esq., 93 Diamond street, on Saturday afternoon next, when the time and place for the meeting will be agreed upon, and such other arrangements made as may be suggested.

HAND CRUSHED.—A little boy named Henry White, aged seven years, who resides with his mother on Spring alley, near the Union Depot, met with a severe accident on Friday afternoon. It appears that he was passing along Liberty street, when a lad named Clark seized his cap and threw it under a train of cars which was standing on the street. The boy White stooped down to get the cap, when the train commenced moving, and his hand was caught under the wheel of the car before he could extricate it, crushing it terribly. Dr. Walter was called in to dress the injury, when it was found necessary to amputate the hand, and the operation was performed.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Coroner Clawson was summoned on Saturday to hold an inquest on the body of an elderly man named Isaac Cromie, residing on Pike street, in the Fifth ward, who died very suddenly that morning. Mr. Cromie rose from bed about half-past five o'clock, apparently in perfect health and in his usual spirits. He lighted his pipe, and sat down on a pile of boards beside his door to smoke. He had been there but a moment or two, when, without a word or struggle, he fell to the ground, and when picked up was found to be dead. Dr. H. D. Kearns gave it as his opinion that death resulted from heart disease. The Coroner's Jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes. The deceased was a native of Ireland, was seventy-eight years of age, and had resided here about fifteen years. He leaves an aged wife, but no children.

Case of Sun-Stroke.

An inquest was held on Saturday by Coroner Clawson on the body of a German named Theodore Kahling, who died on Friday night from the effects of sun-stroke. The deceased, it appears, was not very well, having eaten but little lately from some cause, and was considerably exhausted. He was engaged as a laborer in Lawrenceville, and during Friday afternoon, was greatly exhausted by the heat. About half-past four o'clock he went to the hydrant and took a heavy draught of cold water. A few minutes afterwards, he fell down insensible under a sun-stroke. He was taken to his boarding house, at J. H. Dittman's, on Penn street, in the Ninth ward. Dr. W. D. Kerns was called in about half-past six-o'clock, and found the man collapsed and in a dying condition. Death ensued in about half an hour afterwards. The Coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death from sun-stroke. The deceased was about thirty-six years of age, and had been in this country but eight days. He came from Westphalia, in Germany, where he has a farm, and where he leaves a wife and three children. This is the first case of sun-stroke that has occurred in this vicinity this year.

Distressing Accident at Dixmont

A sad accident occurred at Dixmont Insane Asylum on Saturday morning at an early hour. Mrs. Annie Ballou, an incurable patient, from Erie county, who had been placed in a ward in the fourth story of the building, attempted to effect her escape from the institution. By means of a hair-pin she succeeded in removing a wooden strip from the window, which enabled her to open the iron grating about ten inches. She then tied a number of soiled towels together, and fastened one end to the water-pipe, intending by this means to reach the ground. She did not calculate the distance correctly, however, and after forcing herself through the aperture, fell to the ground below. Her moans awakened the nurses, who hurried to her assistance, carried her into the house, and notified Dr. Reed. Strange to say, no bones were broken, the only injury apparent being a slight cut on the head. Her system, however, was greatly prostrated, and she died about noon. Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body on Saturday afternoon, and a verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.—Before Judge Mellon.

The jury in the case of Wm. Hayes, tried on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, came into Court on Saturday morning and rendered a verdict of not guilty, but directed that defendant pay costs of suit.

John Sinclair, who was convicted, with Jas. Pender, for assaulting and robbing James H. Brown, on Duquesne Way, a week or two ago, was brought up for sentence. Pender was sentenced on the 22d inst., but Sinclair was allowed additional time in order to adduce testimony as to character. No witnesses appearing in his behalf, the Court sentenced him to pay a fine of fifty dollars and undergo a imprisonment in the Penitentiary for a period of four years.

William Messick, convicted of assault and battery, was sentenced to undergo an imprisonment of ten days in the county jail.

Conrad Kim convicted of assaulting Mary Myers, in the Diamond market, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs.

Adam Lang, convicted of striking John M. Wolf with a pot of apple butter, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs.

Martin McDonald convicted of assault and battery upon G. W McCutcheon, at Etna, was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and costs.

Closing of South Pittsburgh Public School.

A grand entertainment was given on last Friday evening by the scholars of the South Pittsburgh Public School under the supervision of the Principal, Prof. J. Morrow. The evening was very pleasant, and at an early hour the school hall was filled to overflowing, and of those who came a little late many had to go away, standing room not even being left. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Griffin, and consisted of vocal music, essays, select reading and recitations. We have rarely, if ever, listened to better performances from school boys and girls. The young ladies who read essays deserve the highest praise, as their efforts would have done honor to older heads. The select reading was very fine, as also the recitations. Time and space will not allow particularization. We will only say that the most sanguine expectations of parents and teachers must have been realized. The music by the pupils formed a prominent feature of the entertainment. No music was ever so natural and sweet as that made by school boys and girls. A new organ of the famed Estey make, had been procured of Barr, Knake & Co., and it, with the sweet voices of the children, made soul-stirring music. The organ sustained well its deservedly high reputation. After the exercises were over, the County Superintendent, A. T. Douthett, was called out and made some very forcible remarks on the importance of parents visiting schools. Mr. Evans, Secretary of School Board, also made some very appropriate remarks, after which the audience all joined in singing the Long Meter Doxology, and Rev. Dermitt pronounced the Benediction.

The accused has not yet been arrested.

Mary McDonald was arrested by officer O'Connor on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Thomas Little. The defendant keeps a drinking saloon in East Birmingham, and the deponent alleges that when he went in there and asked for a drink, he was assaulted by defendant, who struck him with a bottle. A large meeting of the friends of the Monongahela Valley Railroad was held on Saturday, at the town of Jefferson, Greene county. Wm. T. H. Pauley, Esq., acted as President of the meeting, and speeches were made by a number of gentlemen, setting forth the advantages of a railroad extension from Pittsburgh up the valley of the Monongahela river or to Waynesburg, or in both directions. The meeting was very enthusiastic, and augured favorably for the success of the great object it was called to promote—the establishment of a railway through one of the greatest mineral countries in the world. The meeting adjourned to meet at Waynesburg, Greene county, on the 6th of July.

Westminster College Commencement.

It was our privilege to attend the commencement of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Penna., which took place on the 27th inst., in the grove adjoining the College campus. The day was very pleasant, and at an early hour the roads leading to Wilmington were thronged with persons eager to witness the performances of the day. A stage beautifully decorated with evergreens, had been erected by the juniors. Music was furnished by the Greenville Band. The Rev. Joseph Prestley introduced the exercises with prayer.

The English salutatory was read by Miss W. B. Hunter, of New Wilmington, Pa. Mr. A. G. Henry, of Philadelphia, pronounced the Greek oration, and Miss Jennie Marshall, of Daton, Pa., read the Hebrew salutatory. Mr. G. M. Kerr, of New Wilmington, delivered the Latin valedictory, and Mr. W. J. Snodgrass, of Jamestown, the English. The clear and distinct enunciation of the performers in Hebrew, Greek and Latin was very pleasing.

We have space but to mention the performances of the day. "The Goal," J. S. Rankin, Dunningsville, Pa. "Stepping Stones to Greatness," Mando R. Crow, New Bedford. "The Goal of Thought." H. E. Stuart, Mt. Nebo, Ohio. "Let me Struggle Upward Through the Mist," Bella Robinson, New Wilmington. "Know Thyself," J. C. Campbell, Burt, Pa. "Valedictory to Scientific Class," Sarah J. Phlebotomy.

When Dr. Sangrado found his patients weak he gave them water gruel. When they got weaker he bled them and dosed them with calomel and jalap. Gil Blas tells us they almost invariably died. A good many people are killed that way yet. The world in general, however, has found out that, in cases of debility and premature decay, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the true life-sustaining cordial. This tonic is a powerful and perfectly harmless restorative. But it does more than invigorate. It regulates and purifies. While it builds up the strength and infuses vitality into the blood, it brings all the secretions into harmony with the laws of health. The feebler sex find it invaluable in the various physical difficulties to which their organization renders them subject. In all hysterical and hypochondrical cases its effect is magical. The infirmities of age are alleviated by its use; and where the circulation is torpid, and there is a tendency to paralysis, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are recommended as a means of re-invigorating the system and prolonging life.

At this season of the year, particularly, when mid-summer's scorching heat does so much towards reducing the vital energies of the body, this inestimable tonic and stomachic produces a wonderful effect. By it the strength is increased, the appetite preserved, and firmness and elasticity given to the system.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

SATURDAY EVENING, June 29, 1867.

The week closes upon a very close money market, and the same dullness that characterized the markets for weeks past still holds its sway. There is a slight interruption in some departments in preparation for the national holiday, but apart from this we have the stagnation incident to the heated term upon us, which we must endure in preparation for the active and prosperous fall trade that is unmistakably foreshadowed by the abundant crops everywhere maturing.

—On the first of July (Monday,) the Government pays out the gold interest on all its bonds issued before the war, and on the 6's of 1881; also on the 5-20 6's of January and July dates—in all about nineteen millions of gold. On the 15th of July the 7-30 interest on the July Treasury Notes is payable; and on the 15th of August the principal and interest of the August 7-30's is payable.

The Government has ready for delivery the 1867 5-20's. These are given in exchange for 7-30 Treasury Notes, dollar for dollar, adjusting the interest in currency.

It is now evident that the 7-30's will float into 5-20's without extra inducement; so the Secretary has cut off all commissions.

—The spirited advance in Railway stocks at the New York Stock Exchange for the past few days, has afforded many of our citizens an opportunity to unload at a fair profit, although some of them have been carrying quite a load for a long while. It is the general opinion of the financial press that this rise has been brought about by a regular strategic bull movement and may collapse any hour. The Herald says transactions were almost entirely confined to the brokers and professional speculators. In other words, the bulls are conducting their operations without outside support, and the general public evinces no more interest in the transactions on the Stock Exchange than it did a month ago. The speculative stocks respond to their efforts with a rapidity which must be extremely encouraging; but we may liken the street in this respect to a flock of gulls following in the wake of the ship of speculation, with a number of skillful manipulators at the stern, each with a baited hook and line. The first nibble at the bait is tempting, but the more the bait is nibbled the nearer the gulls come to the fatal hook, and finally they get caught. The bulls can borrow all the money they require on satisfactory collaterals, and they think they have only to run prices up in order to decoy the outside public into their trap—the same trap, too, in which it has been often caught before. The intended victims of the bull leaders at present are their fellow brokers, and speculators yclept the street. If the street will take their load of Michigan Southern, Northwestern and other stocks, the bull leaders will have achieved a genuine success in the dog-eat-dog game, and the street will afterwards groan under the weight. But if the outside public comes in and takes the load off its hands then the street, too, will share in the profits of this speculation for a rise, but the public will lose accordingly. Stocks may go up, but they cannot be sustained at the advance without the assistance of the public, and as soon as the latter becomes largely interested the brokers and professional speculators who are now bulling them will be the first to turn and bear them, and thus involve the public in a loss; and the heavier the loss the better for Wall street. Warnings and experience are, however lost upon the public, and it is not improbable that it will be duped again this year as it has been duped before. The higher stocks go the more the public is likely to buy, and the more money it is likely to lose. For one man who makes a hundred thousand dollars, Wall street turns out a hundred ruined speculators—the victims of professional harpies. And yet railway stocks would be cheap at present prices, notwithstanding the present rise, if the properties they represent were well managed; but Wall street moves regardless of real values, and it will promote a bear movement when the railways of the country are in the height of their prosperity as readily as it will a bull movement when their traffic returns are against them. Even now railway shares are a good investment, but very dangerous to buy on speculation against time.

—The New York Tribune says: "The July meeting of Congress is look for with interest in the street under the impression that some financial legislation may be attempted. The regular session, in December, will be largely occupied in financial discussion, and before Congress adjourns next Summer the National Banking Law must be sensibly modified if specie payments are desired. As the law now stands these institutions are merely holders of and jobbers in United States securities, and they have ceased to be banks in the true meaning of the word. They can only be made equal to the wants of the community by abolishing their power to issue circulation, and giving the people a uniform currency of legal tender redeemable in coin by the Treasury. This can be effected by assuming the redemption of the entire National Bank currency, and paying the banks for all the bonds held by them, as security for circulation, their fair market value, deducting the circulation issued upon them. By this process the government will save a large amount of interest in gold, improve the character of the currency, and, instead of monopolizing the bank capital of the country, allow it to be used by the various industries of the people. The system is by no means popular in the great centers, and some of the most powerful banks in New York would at once return to the State law, did they not dread hostile Congressional interference.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, SATURDAY EVENING, June 29, 1867.

During the past week, trade, with the exception of a few articles, has ruled very dull, and prices of many leading articles of produce were, to a great extent, nominal. The flour market has been excited all the week and an advance in prices established. The grain market has been comparatively dull for some time past and but little doing. Groceries have been active and an advance has taken place in some leading articles. There is a fair trade doing in bacon. Butter changed but little during the week. Eggs are lower.

The receipts of some of the leading articles of produce, per river and railroad, since our last, were as follows: Flour, 2,601 bbls; cheese, 78 boxes; corn, 209 sacks; wheat, 765 sacks; rye, 317 sacks; oats, 678 sacks and butter, 48 packages.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale store prices, unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—Old apples are about out of market; a choice article would bring $10 ⅌ bbl. New Eastern apples are coming in, but they are generally very poor and bring nominal prices, according to quality.

BUTTER—The market for butter has been rather weak, but there was some more firmness exhibited toward the close. Choice roll commands 15@16c ⅌ lb. On account of the heat and bad packing a great portion of the packages are in bad order, and have to be sold at a mere nominal price.

BUTTER PAILS—We note sales of 4 dozen ash butter pails at $5 50 per dozen.

BEANS—Prime qualities of small white beans are in demand at $3 25 ⅌ bushel.

CHEESE—The market has been moderately active, but with accumulating stocks and large receipts prices are tending downward. Sales of Goshen were made at 18@19c; W. R. at 12@13c, and Hamburg at 14c ⅌ lb.

DRIED APPLES—The market ruled very dull, and in order to get rid of the stock on hand dealers have no regular price, but sell according to quality and amount purchased. We quote them very dull at 6@8c ⅌ lb.

DRIED PEACHES—There is still a large supply in the market, and prices are nominally 9@12c ⅌ lb as to quality.

STRAWBERRIES—The market has been fairly supplied. Prices range from 15@30c ⅌ quart, as to quality and amount purchased. We see by the Chicago Journal of Commerce that that market is overstocked; the receipts were 4,000 bushels, and selling at prices which would no more than pay charges. Sales ranged in price from $1 50@3 50 ⅌ bushel, according to quality.

EGGS—The market is better supplied and prices lower. Sales were made at 13c ⅌ doz.

FLOUR—The market has been excited all the week and has advanced, closing firm. The demand during the past week has been heavier than at any time during the season, and our largest houses have not been able to fill all their orders, or have only sent a portion to each. Prices will probably remain without much change until the new crop is harvested. The stock of good flour in this market is light. Medium and low grades are not so much inquired for. We quote good spring brands selling readily at $11 75 @12 25, and winter at $12 75@13 50 ⅌ bbl.

CORN MEAL—We quote at $1 00 ⅌ bush.

WHEAT—There is nothing doing in wheat and no trade looked for until after harvest.

CORN—The market is more active and prices are tending upward. Dealers seem anxious to buy at 85 @87c. We note a sale of four car loads F. O. B. at 92c ⅌ bush, shipped east. The quality of the Corn stored in the Elevator, and in storehouses in this city, is very superior.

OATS—The market, to-day, was quiet. Sales of small lots, from store, were made to fill contracts, at 66c ⅌ bush. Also, sales of 67 sacks, from store, at 67c ⅌ bush. Several contracts were made to furnish at O. B., on the track, at 68c.

RYE—The market is dull, and prices have declined. We quote at $1 15.

HAY—We note sales from country wagons at $18@$22 ⅌ ton.

POTATOES—We quote peach-blow potatoes at $1 20 @1 25 ⅌ bush.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE OIL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY, July 1, 1867.

The following are the receipts of oil by rivers and railroads for the past week, and from the first of January, compiled from the daily files of the COMMERCIAL; also a comparative table for the same period in 1866:

	Rivers.	Railroads.	Total.
Monday, June 24	384	758	1,142
Tuesday, " 25	190	2,967	3,157
Wednesday, June 26	231	2,222	2,453
Thursday, " 27	910	1,031	1,941
Friday, " 28	....	1,885	1,885
Saturday, " 29	468	2,329	2,797
Total for the week	2,183	11,192	13,375
Since January 1	634,188	189,015	823,203
To June 29	636,371	200,207	836,578
Same time 1866	626,953	158,224	785,177
Increase 1867	9,418	41,983	51,401

The market since our last weekly review was dull and unsettled. Prices were irregular. Sales were made in such a way as not to represent the market at this time. The week's sales, including the amount sold for next year's delivery, were large. For export, crude reached 45,510 bbls. For immediate delivery, 3,600 bbls will cover the week's sales. The balance of the sales were made deliverable at any time during 1868, at the option of the purchasers, at a fixed price. Refiners have an ample supply of the raw material on hand and are not purchasing. The operations we have noted were on speculation. The nominal rates for bulk on the spot were 6@6½c, according to gravity. The rate for 1868 delivery, buyers' option, was 12½c ⅌ gallon.

REFINED OIL—The market during the week was very dull with a light demand. The week's sales all told were 12,000 barrels, all for Eastern delivery before the first day of January next. Prices were low and ruled in favor of buyers. Last week's sales were 24,000 barrels, just double the amount disposed of this week. The stock in the market is ample. Most of the large dealers are busily engaged in filling previous contracts.

Saturday, as usual, was a dull day. The sales were unusually small. Crude—sales 56 barrels Smith's Ferry at 6c; 100 barrels do., same description, 6⅛c. In regard to Allegheny oil, no sales were reported. Holders were asking 7c, the first bulk rise, and for 1868 delivery, buyers option, 12½c was the prevailing price. There were no receipts.

REFINED OIL was in better favor; holders were asking 24c July delivery, Philadelphia, for Standard White; sales of 56 barrels S. W., free on cars, at 24c; sales of 500 barrels Standard White, Philadelphia, this month's delivery, at 24c. Free oil—we did not learn of any sales; prices have undergone no change.

PHILADELPHIA.

The large fleet of vessels chartered last week has caused an increased demand for refined oil, and prices have advanced 1½@2c ⅌ gallon. There is now tonnage on the berth for about 170,000 barrels of oil, of which about one-half is on board, or been contracted for. Sales of 3,400 bbls crude at 13⅝c for gravity; 3,500 bbls P. L. S. to W. refined, in bond, at 20½@21c, but the latter figure is now refused; 7,000 bbls S. W. at 23@24c—closing to-day with 24c bid; 3,000 bbls S. W. all July, at 23@24c, b. o.; 500 bbls S. W. for August at 24c, b. o.; 500 bbls S. W. for September at 24c, b. o.; 500 bbls S. W. for October at 26c, b. o.; 500 bbls S. W. for November at 26c, b. o.; 2,500 bbls S. W. (500 each month), July to December, at 25c, b. o.; 1,500 bbls S. W., July to October, at 25c, b. o.; and free at 38@43c. Residuum is nominal at $3 25, and naptha at 11c, in bond. In Pittsburgh a contract was made for 5,000 bbls crude, in bulk, deliverable in Oil City in all 1868, at 11c. The receipts during the week were 3,243 bbls crude and 13,947 bbls refined. The export during the week was 331,977 galls refined. On Friday last 48 vessels were under charter and loading with petroleum for foreign ports. The amount contracted for to be delivered at the various ports on the continent and England, Ireland and Scotland, by these vessels, foots up 176,467 bbls, or 7,158,680 gallons.

Oil City Oil Report

Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

OIL CITY, June 29, 1867.

Cincinnati Provision Circular.

The provision market during the past week has maintained a firmer tone for most articles, says the circular of Geo. W. Phillips, Jr., of Friday last, than last reported, and the changes have been toward an advance in all articles except lard, which still continues to drag. The scarcity, poor quality and high prices of beef, together with the warm weather is causing a good demand for hams, and the probabilities are that the stock in this market will be exhausted early. The demand for all articles is consumptive; speculators do not yet seem to have confidence enough in the future to make large investments.

MESS PORK—Has been unsettled all the week. Buyers have not been willing to pay over $21 for the best, while many are holding for higher figures, though this price could not be obtained for round lots were they offered; in fact, the demand is light.

LARD—Has been very dull with free offerings at 11½c for choice city, while buyers contend for 11⅛c, but get it only in small quantities as yet. There is some old prime city lard left, but is held at 11¼c with offerings at 11c. Keg 12½ to 12¾c. The low grades as well as greases are about absorbed and prices nominal.

BULK MEATS—Have improved in feeling with fair sales during the week, chiefly to smokers. Shoulders early in the week were freely offered at 7⅞c loose, but later are sought for at this price and at the close are held firmly at 8c. Sides have sold at 10c for heavy, and 9⅞c for medium, closing firm at 10c. Clear rib 10½ to 10⅝c, and clear 11 to 11¼c, all loose. Hams are scarce and in fair demand at 12c for choice cuts and small averages.

BACON—Has been in better demand especially for clear ribbed sides which have advanced to 11¼c, but generally held at 11½c, to come out of smoke. Rib sides are in small supply, and held firmly at 11¼c with buyers ¼c less. Clear are generally held at 12¼c, but sales are not easily made over 12⅛c. Shoulders steady at 9c with fair offerings. Plain hams are in good demand at 14c but generally held ¼c higher. Sugar cured have been in active demand at 16½c for best brands, with large sales during the week; the tendency is towards a further advance.

BEEF HAMS—20½ to 21c; in pickle $35.

PLATE BEEF—Very scarce, and not to be had under $23; it is generally held higher.

WOOL.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

COSHOCTON, OHIO, June 28, 1867.

Wool buyers say that the price they are offering for wool—46 cents ⅌ lb—gives the seller all the benefit of the tariff, as well as the premium on gold now at $1 38.

It so happens that, at the price named of 46 cents, $1 38 in currency pays for exactly three pounds of wool, and therefore a gold dollar pays for three pounds.

This is 33⅓ cents ⅌ lb in gold.

Let the wool grower pursue this reverse method, and see what he would be getting for his wool, if there was no tariff and gold was not at a premium, were he to accept the buyer's offer of 46 cents.

The tariff adds, as the buyer himself admits, 15 cents to the cost of a foreign wool, equal to Ohio low medium wools. And this must also be paid in gold. The premium, therefore, on the duty to be paid in gold adds 5 cents to it, making 20 cents.

Twenty cents deducted from 33⅓—the equivalent of 46 cents—in gold, reduces it to 13⅓ cents.

Thus, the wool grower finds that, without taking into consideration the expenses of transportation, &c., from the foreign port of shipment, the offer of 46 cents ⅌ lb, with the tariff and gold premium on, is the exact equivalent of 13⅓ cents ⅌ lb with the tariff and gold premium off.

When before were we ever asked to take 13⅓c ⅌ lb for Ohio low medium wools?

Again, the buyers offer of 50c for "Ohio good wools," only adds 4c ⅌ lb to this 13⅓c—making the unprecedented price of 17⅓c ⅌ lb for our "good Ohio wools."

And let it be remembered, too, that the best, taken from our "good Ohio wools" are equal if not superior to the best wools produced in the whole world.

One fact in this connection in proof of it—Robert Reed, of Dalton, Wayne county, Ohio, since deceased, sent 20 fleeces from his clip to the first World's Exposition at London, in 1851, and was awarded a medal upon it. WOOL GROWER.

COFFEE MARKETS.

BALTIMORE.

There has been a fair inquiry this week for Coffee, says the Commercial, of Saturday, and the market has throughout been steady. The sales sum up 4,400 bags, and they include 1,000 bags Rio ex-"steamer at New York;" 750 bags do ex-"Lapwing," and 500 bags do ex-"Sjofroken;" all on private terms, and 2,150 bags do in lots from second hands at from 16 to 19c, gold, duty paid. We quote to-day as follows, viz: Rio at 15@17c for ordinary to fair; 17½@18¾c for good to prime, and 19@19¼c for choice; Laguayra at 18@19c, and Java at 25@25½c, gold, duty paid. The stock of Coffee here is about 34,000 bags.

NEW YORK.

There is now a general and pretty good inquiry for Rio, says the Commercial List of Saturday, partly on speculaton, and the market is stronger and higher, closing quite buoyantly at an advance of ¼@½c ⅌ lb, as will be seen by our revised quotations. The sales made public are 268 bags per steamer Merrimack, at 10c; 1,160 do. per Sharston, 10c; 500 do, per Iser, 10¼c gold, in bond; and 1,250 do, balance per Svanen, on private terms. At Baltimore, 150 bags per Lapwing, sold at 9¾c; 600 do, 10½c gold, in bond; and 500 do, per Sfroken, about 18c gold, duty paid. In other descriptions there has not been much done here; 1,797 bags Port-au-Princ sold for export, 402 Maracaibo, on terms not made public; and 150 do Laguayra, 17½@18c gold.

PHILADELPHIA.

Coffee continues very quiet. 200 bags of Rio sold at 13c ⅌ lb, gold. Small lots at 22@25½c, and Laguayra at 24½c ⅌ lb, currency.

RIVER TELECRAMS.

Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, June 29.—The river is falling, with four feet four inches in the canal. The St. Charles arrived from New Orleans and laid up.

RIVER NEWS.

STEAMERS ARRIVED AND DEPARTED.

Gallatin	Carlisle	Lock No. 4.

Delaware	Brennan	Parkersburg.

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—The weather continues very warm with a fair prospect of an early suspension to all points. The marks indicate about twenty-six inches and falling. Boats do not find it profitable to leave on that water, freights being entirely to low too justify. The last departure of the season was the Delaware and barge for Parkersburg, with all the freight she could carry on the water. The boats in the slack water are still running to Lock No. 4, at which place they exchange trips with boats that proceed to Brownsville. The opposition between the People's and Mail Lines continues, neither being disposed to give way. Business on that route for the past eighteen months, has been done cheap.

THE steamer Leonora No. 2 arrived at Cincinnati from Evansville, with 200 hhds tobacco.

CAPT. SMOKER's new boat, now building at New Albany, will be named the Governor W. H. Allen.

THE Armadillo and barges, en route for St. Louis, passed Louisville on Wednesday.

THE steamer Kenton, Captain Dunlap, is among the first boats due at Cincinnati from New Orleans.

LAST Thursday a skiff containing eleven persons was capsized at New Orleans, and five of the party were drowned.

JIM DURFF, of the Memphis Avalanche, bet his pile on the Richmond and "lost his all." Ah, Jim, greenhorns and their money are easily parted.

THE steamer Delaware left for Parkersburg on Saturday, with all the freight she could manage on the water.

THE Armadillo received five hundred barrels of whisky at Louisville in one lot. This is the largest shipment of that article made there for some years.

NEW wheat will soon arrive from points below. Southern Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee and Arkansas. Other crops will follow in natural order, and plenty will fill the land with rejoicing.

THE low pressure Richmond has laid up at Louisville. The Courier reporter had better return; his occupation is gone; he did all that was possible to make her a fast boat, but it was no go—age will tell. The Richmond and Indiana are played out. We suppose the Dexter will be the next victim.

IT is said Gen. Weitzel's survey for a steamboat canal around the falls will embrace both sides of the Ohio river; and his report to Congress will give the comparative advantages of the Kentucky and Indiana shores.

BOATS in port at Louisville on Thursday, at City wharf—Empire, Stella, Alice Vivian and Dove No. 2. Portland—Indiana, Richmond, Nick Longworth, Tarascon, Louisiana and Liberty No. 2. Tow-head—Bermuda, Tempest and Pink Varble.

THE port of Savannah now holds the second rank as a cotton port. Formerly New Orleans was first as a place of export and Mobile second, but now Savannah surpasses Mobile by an excess of 9,000 bales, and is 100,000 bales ahead of Charleston.

JEFFERSONVILLE, June 27—7 P. M.—River falling slowly, with thirty-four inches in the pass over the falls. Cloudy; wind west. The Champion and towboat Rochester passed up, and the Ezra Porter passed down. The Champion had to lighten through the canal. The towboat Stella, with barges in tow, passed up. D. M. DRYDEN, Falls Pilot.

ACCIDENT TO A FLATBOAT.—The Bertha, while at the foot of the canal, at Portland, backed into a flatboat, laden with hay, causing it to sink. The boat and cargo belonged to Mr. Pleasants, of Vevay, Indiana, and was insured for $4,000 in the Madison Insurance Company, of Madison, Indiana, and the Enterprise, of Cincinnati.

THE Cincinnati Commercial of Friday has the following: Capt. Brown, Superintendent of the A. & M. Steamship Co., arrived from St. Louis yesterday, and returned in last night's train. He informs us that the entire stock of this Company will be sold at auction, at St. Louis, on the 15th of July, when the Company will be reorganized on a cash basis.

THE Ruth made the run, last trip, from New Orleans to St. Louis in four days nine hours and fifty minutes. An account of the "tussle" between her and the Richmond will be found below. We have nothing to say against the steamer Richmond, but don't intend imitating the second class (so-called) Courier, by turning our backs upon every other boat that comes to Louisville. Fair play is our motto.—Louisville Democrat.

IT is reported that Capt. Chas. Dravo, of the Republic, has, by his long absence from the Smoky City, and application to his duties on the fine packet, lost all recollection of his Pittsburgh friends. He don't know them now when he sees them.—Cincinnati Times.

Look at the back of their necks, Charley, and if they ain't "white as the driven snow," shake hands.—Louisville Democrat.

Just so. The other party may have something to say on that subject. Takes two to make a bargain.

THAT wayside village yclept Louisville is a great place. Every boat built in the neighborhood is claimed as a Louisville boat.—St. Louis Republican, 26th.

Not by a jug full on our part. We are ashamed of some of them, because they are not Louisville built boats. If they were, we'd have something to be proud of. Louisville don't own a single New Orleans boat—sad but so.—Louisville Democrat.

Let the Democrat consult the Courier, and he will discover that all the fast boats that ever were built were from that place, according to that paper. We don't hear any more about the low pressure three day trip to Louisville.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says: Mr. John Livessay, one of the pilots, telegraphs us that the Cincinnati and Marietta packet, W. F. Curtis, Capt. Brown, was totally destroyed by fire Friday morning, at 2 o'clock, while lying at the Marietta wharf. The origin of the fire is unknown. The W. F. Curtis was a stern-wheel steamer, and built at Marietta in September, 1864, had capacity for 300 tons, and was owned by Capt. Brown, her commander, and others. She was insured for $16,000, all she was worth, in the following Cincinnati offices: Enterprise, $7,500; Central, $4,000; Boatmen's, $2,500, and Union, $2,000. There were no lives lost. The bulk of the cargo from Cincinnati had been discharged.

STOPPAGE OF BOATS AT QUARANTINE.—In pursuance of instructions issued by the Board of Health, General Ranney, this morning, informed the Board that he had received a telegram from Cairo to the effect that the City of Alton, from Memphis, was on her way up with one hundred and twenty emigrants on board. Doctor Montgomery, resident physician at Quarantine, was notified to stop the boat and examine into her sanitary condition, although there is no intimation that there is any sickness on board. All boats will be boarded at Quarantine hereafter, with a view to proper inspection as to their sanitary condition, yet it has not as yet, and may not be deemed necessary by the Board to establish a regular quarantine.—St. Louis Dispatch, June 27.

THE Northern Packet Line from St. Louis to St. Paul are having a lively time from the accounts received. They are more than a match for all that they have come in contact. The following is from the St. Louis Democrat of Friday: The race of upper river boats began on Wednesday afternoon at this port, is causing a good deal of interest. The Sucker State's time to Alton was 2:27, and then she was four miles ahead of the Belle Pike, and six miles ahead of the Sheridan. It looks from this that the little Illinois boat passed the Phil. The latter was still behind the Sucker yesterday at Hannibal and Quincy. In this connection, when much attention is directed to fast time on the Upper Mississippi, we give the Hawkeye's exploit. In June, 1861, she made the best time recorded from St. Louis to St. Paul, namely 3 days, 6 hours 25 minutes, including 26 stoppages, 54 landings. Round trip two hours less than a week. The regular time of the Northern line boats now is four days to St. Paul, and they go through daily without reshipping.
